De Gaulle Cabinet Backs Unity Drive

Will Bring Moslems Into Cabinet

PARIS (AP) — The cabinet rallied Saturday behind Premier Charles de Gaulle's drive for French Unity, endorsing decisions he made on his dramatic peace making flight to Algeria.

De Gaulle pushed through a cabinet decision promising local elections in Algeria in about a month. He told the Arab-Berber population that in these elections they would have equal votes with the French population for the first time in history.

The ministers further underscored their bid for support of the Arab-Berber masses by agreeing an Algerian Moslem should be brought into the cabinet for the first time.

Skids Under Rightwingers
De Gaulle also gently but firmly began to slap down the rightwing public safety committees that swept to power in De Gaulle's name and are reluctant to surrender their authority.

Despite his speed and obvious determination, the general's problems were staggering, and he made his maneuvers with the caution of a military commander feeling out a fortified line.

Calls Cabinet
De Gaulle called his cabinet to his official residence — where he set up housekeeping Saturday morning — and reported on the three-day Algerian trip that ended Friday night.

De Gaulle's scholarly information minister, Andre Malraux, said his chief had returned to France convinced that his presence was accepted by Algeria's Arabs and Berbers as a guarantee of equality.

Sure Of Loyalty
Malraux said De Gaulle is convinced of the loyalty to the government of the army, which fully supported the May 13 insurrection of the French colonials in Algeria.

Despite Malraux's statement, it was known that De Gaulle is anxious to ease into less sensitive spots some of the more fiery officers who participated in the Algerian revolt.

Reaffirms Powers
De Gaulle reaffirmed the special military and civilian powers he had given Gen. Raoul Salan, the commander in Algeria.

De Gaulle wrote Salan, however telling him that he expects him to turn toward the establishment in Algeria of regular authority. De Gaulle's official statement said: (Continued On Page 11)

PICKS BOUQUET IN WRONG PLACE

CHICAGO (AP)—William Bernbach is no bug about flowers, but his sweetie loves 'em.

So he went flower gathering. First he plucked a geranium, then a petunia. One after another until he had a lovely bouquet.

Six policemen took an interest, and when Bernbach explained his romantic purpose, the officers agreed the sentiment was commendable.

But they tossed him into the house anyway. He had plucked the posies from flower boxes in front of central police headquarters.

Oust Soviet Diplomat For Spying Activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is expelling a Russian diplomat on the grounds he paid an American citizen at least $450 in an effort to obtain secret military documents.

Announcing the ouster order Saturday, the State Department said the Soviet Embassy had been warned more than a year ago that this kind of spy activity "would not be condoned."

The diplomat was identified as Nikolai I. Kurochkin, third secretary of the embassy.

U.S. officials said Kurochkin did not obtain the secret documents he sought but got some nonsecret documents, described as U.S. Army manuals. Such manuals are sold to the public by the Government Printing Office.

The American was named by a Justice Department official as Charles Theodore Beaumont, 25, of nearby Arlington, Va. Beaumont was described as a magazine writer on military matters.

Nathan B. Levin, head of the Justice Department's foreign agents registration section, said the department learned Beaumont had been dealing with Kurochkin and notified Beaumont he was required to register as a foreign agent. Beaumont did so in April and listed Kurochkin as his "principal," Levin said.

Beaumont told the Justice Department, Levin said, that between September and December last year he gave Kurochkin about 25 nonclassified training manuals and that the Russian paid him about $435.

Execution Date For Starkweather Set For Dec. 17

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Charles Starkweather, 19-year-old killer, who has admitted involvement in 11 slayings, was ordered to die in the electric chair Dec. 17, 1958.

District Judge Harry Spencer, who presided at the trial of Starkweather for the slaying of Robert Jensen, 17, of Bennet, Neb., fixed the date for the carrying out of the sentence prescribed by the jury which convicted Starkweather after overruling his application for a new trial.

The judge then ordered a transcript of the proceedings delivered to the Nebraska Supreme Court for an automatic review of the case.

The Supreme Court could delay or set aside the execution order. Starkweather looked Judge Spencer straight in the eye when the judge announced the execution date.

When Spencer asked him if there was any reason why sentence should not be pronounced, Starkweather shook his head vigorously and replied "No."

Starkweather's attorney had listed 17 reasons why he thought a new trial should be granted, the principal ones being that they felt the state had failed to prove Starkweather's sanity and that the guilty verdict and death sentence were the result of "passion and prejudice."

A plea of innocent by reason of insanity had been entered for Starkweather.

Carl Fugate, Starkweather's 14-year-old girl companion on the January killing spree, still awaits trial. She also was charged with first degree murder.

Democrat Nominee Predicts Victory In California

NEW YORK (AP) — Edmund Brown of California predicted Saturday he would become his state's second Democratic governor in this century.

And he added, "I predict that I will do such a fine job there won't be another Republican governor in this century."

The California attorney general won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in his state Tuesday and was more than 600,000 votes ahead of the Republican nominee, Sen. William Knowland, in the primary balloting.

He flew here from Washington Saturday to confer with New York's Gov. Averell Harriman.

The two Democrats said they believed a "Democratic tide is running" in both states.

They attributed it to what they called disillusionment with the Eisenhower administration.

Although his trip includes a conference in Chicago with twice-defeated presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson, Brown said he is not asking Democrats outside California to come in and help him in his campaign.

"I prefer, in this case," he said, "to rely on my own California supporters and in my own knowledge of the issues without calling in any outsiders."

But if other Democrats like Stevenson and former President Harry Truman volunteer their support, he said, it will be welcomed.

Brown will go to Chicago Sunday to attend a conference of the National Assn. of Attorneys General and while there will meet with Stevenson.

Macmillan Arrives For Policy Talks With Ike

States Are Slow In Accepting New Jobless Pay Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The states are showing little inclination to rush into the Eisenhower administration's emergency unemployment relief program.

President Eisenhower has asked Congress for $665,700,000 to finance the program — on the assumption that all states will come into it and that 2,650,000 eligible unemployed will draw additional benefits for an average of 8½ weeks.

An Associated Press survey shows that some states definitely plan to sign up—Pennsylvania Friday became the first state to do so—but that some want no part of the program. A great many more don't know what they are going to do. A number will reach decisions in the next few days.

Asst. Secretary of Labor Newell Brown predicted Thursday that all but a few of the states will go along.

The greatest pressure to lengthen the period of payments naturally has built up in states with big populations and comparatively heavy unemployment.

In addition to Pennsylvania, governors of six states already have taken steps, or probably will, toward participation in the program. The states: New York, Michigan, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Maryland and Indiana.

Connecticut has extended its period of jobless payments without federal aid. Ohio and Illinois also may use their own reserve funds instead of obtaining federal loans, and possibly the Michigan legislature will take this course.

About half the states can participate in the federal program only if they amend their constitutions, hold referendums—Rhode Island has one coming up Tuesday—or get specific authority from their legislatures.

In many instances it would be necessary for the governors to call special sessions to obtain legislative action. A number already have issued calls and several are considering doing so.

A few have no intention of summoning legislatures to special sessions. Some states, chiefly in the West and South, report that unemployment and economic conditions appear to be improving. In Kansas, unemployment has dropped below the 1957 level. (Continued On Page 11)

Election Year Battle Brewing Over Controversial Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — An election-year battle between Congress and the Eisenhower administration is brewing over efforts of House farm leaders to enact sweeping new programs this year.

The House Agriculture Committee begins voting Tuesday in a broad omnibus bill offering new commodity programs for wheat, rice, cotton, feed grains, and milk.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson dismissed the catch-all measure as an "unattractive package" and accused the committee of trying to write special interest legislation.

In an effort to get a bill to the House floor, the committee has taken a commodity-by-commodity approach with the aim of wrapping up the separate proposals later in a package that will contain something for every commodity group.

Tied to commodity price support sections are extension of the Agricultural Trade Development Act now due to expire June 30; an extension of the school milk program; and a three-year continuation of the wool act with its production subsidy payments to growers.

The administration farm program calls for authority to lower price supports on five basic crops—cotton, corn, wheat, rice and peanuts—and elimination of escalator provisions by which supports go up as surpluses go down.

Congress, however, has balked at lower price supports. The House committee bill provides, instead, for this commodity treatment:

Wheat—a two-price plan which would give growers 100 per cent of parity on wheat used for domestic consumption, and open market prices on the rest. Parity is a standard calculated to give the farmer a fair price in relation to the costs of things he must buy.

Benson opposes the two-price plan.

Cotton-growers would have a chance to continue their present plan.

Ike's Program Bridges Sees Need For Compromises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) predicted Saturday Congress will approve major parts of the administration's legislative program, but probably not in the form President Eisenhower wants.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he believes compromises will be necessary on Eisenhower's defense reorganization, reciprocal trade, and foreign aid requests.

He said a House bill creating a civilian space agency is likely to be revised by the Senate. He expressed the belief the administration's hold-the-line tax legislation may be approved without much change.

"When Congress finishes its work, I believe that most of the major measures proposed by the President will be enacted," he said in an interview. "But I am afraid some of them are not going to be in a form entirely pleasing to him."

On defense reorganization, Bridges said he is convinced that Eisenhower will lose out in his demand that the secretaries of the armed forces and the chiefs of staff be barred from appealing to Congress if the secretary of defense transfers functions from one service to another.

"There is no question that the right of the secretaries and joint chiefs to come to Congress will be preserved," Bridges said.

Eisenhower has listed his defense reorganization plan, as originally proposed, as one of "four commandments"—the major matters on which he says he wants congressional action.

In a conference with a group of GOP house members Friday, Eisenhower also urged enactment of the foreign aid and reciprocal trade bills. (Continued On Page 11)

Rocket Satellite Of Sputnik To Appear Over U.S.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The rocket satellite of Sputnik III is due to make its first morning appearance over the United States during the next few days, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said Saturday.

It will be visible briefly at about 5:20 a.m. EST Sunday to residents in the southern tip of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana and western Cuba.

The rocket will be coming out of the twilight over Central America and disappear in the bright sky over the Gulf of Mexico.

Monday morning the rocket satellite will cross Southern Mexico at 3:48 a.m. EST and disappear into the bright sky over the southern Texas-Louisiana border two minutes later. This passage should be visible in much of south and eastern Texas and a small part of southwestern Louisiana.

By next week the morning passages will be visible to most of the United States. In all cases the carrier rocket will be traveling in a south-southwest to north-northeast direction in its predawn appearances.

The Smithsonian estimates that Sputnik III, the wedge-shaped ton-and-a-half satellite equipped with instruments, is trailing the rocket satellite by about a full lap around the world.

May Urge More Trade With Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew into Washington Saturday to talk over with President Eisenhower such world issues as the French political crisis and a possible summit conference with Russia.

Macmillan characterized the sessions as informal talks with the President, an old acquaintance.

Relations between Washington and London are generally more harmonious than in recent years.

To Urge Trade

But U.S. officials said they expect Macmillan in conferences starting Monday to urge Eisenhower to endorse increased Western trade with the Soviet Union, to move as rapidly as possible toward a summit conference, and to strengthen Western machinery for waging the economic cold war.

To Inform De Gaulle

Both British and U.S. diplomats indicated Premier Charles de Gaulle of France would be informed about the discussions and whatever understandings are reached.

There was speculation Macmillan might fly to Paris after the Washington talks. Another possibility was that Eisenhower and Macmillan would publicly declare their interest in meeting De Gaulle when he has time.

Flies In With Wife

Macmillan came from London aboard a new Britannia jet-propeller airplane accompanied by his wife and a party of 12. A faulty engine forced the plane to turn back to London Friday night, and Macmillan reached Washington about three hours behind schedule.

Secretary of State Dulles will set in on the first meeting with Eisenhower Monday afternoon.

Dulles Meets Plane

Dulles, who arranged a private dinner at his home Saturday night for the Prime Minister and Lady Dorothy Macmillan, met the plane here.

Macmillan and his wife engaged in the familiar diplomatic game of talking down the importance of the meeting. If nothing much is accomplished, such a preliminary is supposed to reduce disappointment. If some important decision is made, officials can claim it was planned that way all along.

Macmillan said his chief purpose in coming here "is to make a pilgrimage to my mother's grave, Indiana." He will speak at De Pauw University at Greencastle Sunday.

AEC ANNOUNCES GRANTS TO COLLEGES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission Saturday announced $1,900,321 in grants to 41 colleges and universities.

The money will finance expansion of facilities for training nuclear scientists and engineers.

Saturday's awards, the fourth in a series, raise to $8,664,709 the total allotted to 96 educational institutions.

The largest grants went to Cornell University, Iowa State College, Stanford University, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Each received $150,000.

The awards provide also for the installation of a small teaching reactor at Iowa State.

Others receiving grants included University of Illinois, $38,600; University of Missouri, $35,337; Northwestern University, $15,632; and University of Wisconsin, $38,600.

Weather Report

Saturday's temperatures as recorded at the WLDG transmitter were a high of 82 at 4 p.m.; 58 at 6 a.m.; 72 at 10 a.m.; 80 at 1 p.m. and 78 at 6 p.m. The low Friday night was 50.

Sunset Sunday—8:30 p.m.
Sunrise Monday—5:29 a.m.

Forecast for this area:

Partly cloudy and warm Sunday. Scattered showers Sunday night. Partly cloudy Monday. High Sunday in mid 80s. Low Sunday night in low 60s. High Monday near 80.

C. Of C. President Invites Citizens To Plan Work Program

The Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce yesterday invited its members and all citizens to join in formulating a program of work for 1958.

President George Knyo in a letter sent to all members said "the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce is a membership organization that plans and promotes projects considered by the membership to be needed and wanted."

With each letter was a survey sheet upon which members can list what they consider three outstanding needs or projects for the present year, and three more for long range planning. Those filling out the survey form are asked if they will be willing to serve on a committee to promote their suggestions.

Survey forms should be filled in and returned to the Chamber of Commerce offices in the Gibson building by June 30.

"This survey is our effort to determine what you, the membership, believe is most needed and wanted in Jacksonville," Mr. Knyo said. "The board of directors would appreciate knowing your ideas and receiving your suggestions to make Jacksonville an even better place in which to live and do business."

Chamber of Commerce officials said the formulation of a 1958 work program is not limited to membership. All interested citizens are invited to write suggestions for progress and improvement, and mail them to the Chamber of Commerce.

Municipal Airport Activities

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wolke departed Monday for Detroit, Michigan after spending the Memorial holiday with friends and relatives in Jacksonville. Mr. and Mrs. Wolke were flying an Aeronca Chief.

A twin-engine Douglas DC-3 aircraft from Owens-Illinois Glass Co. of Toledo, Ohio landed at Jacksonville Municipal Airport on Saturday and again on Sunday. The executive aircraft is used for transportation of company personnel. With the installation of 100 octane aircraft fuel at Jacksonville Municipal it was possible to refuel aircrafts of this type.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Moody and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Smith and family flew to Champaign Sunday to attend the state selection of Flying Farmer Queen of Illinois. A barbecued chicken dinner was served to members and their guests. The Moodys made the trip in their Navion aircraft and the Smiths made the flight in their Stinson aircraft.

Walter Hahn of Ottawa arrived at Jacksonville Municipal Sunday in a Cessna 162 with persons attending the MacMurray Commencement exercises at MacMurray College Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Raynor and Ethel Hurst flew to Holland, Michigan Monday to spend the summer months. The chartered flight was made in Beverly Airlines Beechcraft Bonanza and piloted by Howard Dietrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ames departed Monday for Bryan, Ohio after visiting with relatives in Carrollton. The flight was made in their Luscombe Aircraft.

Frank Eck arrived Monday from Wichita, Kansas to visit with his parents in Alexander. Frank was flying a Cessna 172 and is currently employed by Cessna Aircraft Co. at Wichita, Kansas. He departed Friday for Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

A. R. Currey, former operator of the Galesburg Airport landed at Jacksonville Municipal Airport Monday. Mr. Currey is now operating a fixed base operations at Pine Bluffs, Arkansas. He was flying a Piper Tri-Pacer.

Lt. David T. Cannon of the U. S. Navy landed at Jacksonville Municipal Airport Monday from Pensacola, Florida. Lt. Cannon was flying a T-28 aircraft and made the return trip the same day.

The surfacing project around the new T-hangars has been under way this week. The project was not completed last fall due to weather and Caldwell Engineering Co. has been getting the project ready for final surfacing.

Wm. Ricks of the State Department of Aeronautics landed at Jacksonville Municipal Airport Wednesday for inspection of the T-hangar surfacing project. He was flying the Departments Piper Apache.

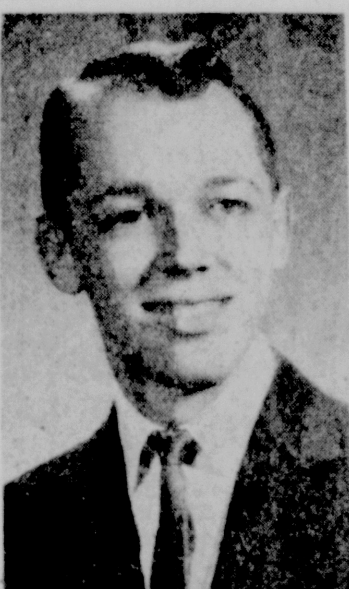

Allen B. Christmas made a flight to Ashkum, Illinois Thursday in Beverly Airlines Piper Tri-Pacer. Jean Burson and Nma Price of Dyer, Indiana landed at Jacksonville Municipal Airport Wednesday. They were on their way to Kansas and thence to the West Coast where they will enter the annual all women's transcontinental air race at Montgomery Field, San Diego, California. The race will commence on July 4th. The ladies were flying a Bellanca Crusiermaster aircraft.

CATHARINE CROZIER

They will gather in the chancel of Annie Merner Chapel, beginning Monday morning, June 9, to examine, discuss, and demonstrate organ literature in the areas of technique, style of performance, and registration. Some classes will be devoted to the discussion of ornamentation in the music of the Old Masters and Bach, as well as to church music, its repertoire and the adaptation of accompaniments of major choral works to organ.

Public Invited

Jacksonville residents are invited to attend evening organ recitals at the college, with no admission charged.

On Monday evening, June 9, in Orr Auditorium (Music Building), Ronald Arnatt, brilliant young British-born organist of Christ Church Cathedral, St. Louis, will play a recital, which will be partly comprised of his own compositions.

Wednesday evening in Annie Merner Chapel, Catharine Crozier will play a recital, on MacMurray's Aeolian-Skinner organ, one of the nation's best. Miss Crozier has built an international reputation as a concert organist of the highest artistic caliber, appearing in all major cities in the U.S., Canada, the British Isles, and Europe. She has met with outstanding success as an interpreter of contemporary music, but she also plays the music of Bach and romantic composers with equal authority.

A graduate with honors from Eastman School of Music, she received the Performer's Certificate, the Master of Music degree, and the Artist's Diploma, the highest award for performance given by the Eastman School.

At Eastman, she was a pupil of Harold Gleason, and in 1953 became head of the Organ Department. She is presently on the faculty of Rollins College, in Winter Park, Fla.

Dr. Gleason, distinguished organ teacher and musicologist, was head of the Organ department at Eastman from its inception in 1921 until 1953, and through the years has trained many of the country's finest organists. He is author of one of the most comprehensive and widely-used organ instruction books, several music literature outlines, and examples of music before 1400.

Glasgow to Present Recital

Professor Robert Glasgow, MacMurray College organist, will play a unique recital on Thursday evening at 8:15. The first half will be played in the Congregational church on the two-manual Moller (1955), and the second half in Grace Methodist church on the three-manual Moller (1957).

SMALL FRY AT OSAGE ORANGE, TOO

Youngsters of IC grads are not always interested in "the good old days" but they fight the "battle of the drumstick" and romp on the spacious lawn while Mother and Dad visit. The dog in the foreground seems interested in the young lady's chicken bones.

TIME OUT FOR FRIENDLY CHAT

Dr. C. Ellsworth Black, Jr., '16, of Jacksonville and a member of the board of trustees, takes time out during the Osage Orange picnic to chat with Dr. Fred Hoskins, '26, chairman of the board of trustees. Several children of grads are playing on the commencement platform.

ALUMNI SWAP YARNS AT OSAGE ORANGE

Shortly after the family style picnic our Journal-Courier camera found this group of alumni swapping yarns about life when they were students at IC. Left to right are: Harry J. Dunbaugh, '99, Chicago; Dr. George Baxter, '96, Glendora, Calif.; Colonel Edward Clifford, '96, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Fred Hoskins, '26, New York City; and Raymond Woods, '89, Minneapolis, Minn.

Shower At Tomlin Home Honors Miss Kay Kendall

Mrs. Mae Tomlin and Mrs. W. S. Dobbs were co-hostesses at a pre-nuptial shower honoring Miss Kay Kendall who will be married June 8. The party was held June 4 at the home of Mrs. Tomlin at 201 Caldwell.

The evening was spent playing wedding bingo and bride mixers. Winners for the evening were Miss Ruby Mueller, Miss Carol McDewitt, Miss Laura May Mueller, Mrs. Ralph Woods and Mrs. Glenn Kendall. Mrs. Caroline Fuller won the door prize.

Other guests attending were Mrs. Harvey Mueller, Mrs. Elmo Tippet, Miss Wanda Tippet, Mrs. Richard Adkins, Mrs. Albert Hayes, Mrs. Karl Baker, Miss Sandra and Rhoda Baker, Miss Maude Fanning, Mrs. Elmer McDewitt, Mrs. James Beck, Mrs. Harold McDewitt, Miss Lucy Ball, Mrs. Frank DeSollar and Mrs. Leon Mutter.

The gifts were attractively displayed beneath a pink and white parasol. Miss Carol McDewitt, Miss Kendall's college roommate, arranged the rehearsal bouquet.

After a dessert course the guests crossed the street to the bride-elect's home to view her lovely gift display.

BIBLE SCHOOL ENDS FRIDAY IN MEREDOSIA
MEREDOSIA—Friday morning was the last session of the vacation Bible school conducted at St. John's Lutheran church for the last two weeks. No special program was planned for the last day, but parents were invited to visit the final classes. About 40 boys and girls were enrolled.

Mrs. James Donham was the general superintendent. The teachers were Rev. David McCleary, Mrs. A. H. Unland, Mrs. Harold Schroeder, Mrs. Marvin Schieker, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Kenneth Nunn, Mrs. Byron McAllister, Mrs. Marvin Gerecke, Mrs. Herbert Hinners and Mrs. Fred Heitbrink. Mrs. McCleary was the pianist.

'Prospects Bright For IC Future,' Says Dr. L. Vernon Caine

'Shakuntala' Pleases Friends, College Alumni

By Dr. Ethel Seybold

Jacksonville residents and returning alumni of Illinois College had an unusual experience in theatre going when the Hilltop Players under the direction of Lee Morgan gave a modern presentation of the fifth century Indian play Shakuntala on the Ames Woodland stage of the Illinois College campus.

The story, taken from Indian folklore, comes from the age of myth; it tells of the romantic marriage of King Dushyanta to the maiden Shakuntala, daughter of a heavenly nymph and ward of a holy hermit; of Dushyanta's rejection of his bride because of the loss of memory brought upon him through a curse; and finally of the happy reunion of the lovers and their son.

King Dushyanta is the heroic, protector of his people and defender of the gods. Jim Symons, versatile veteran of the Hilltop Players, gave the part the qualities it demanded. The title role of Shakuntala, whose modest, seductiveness, innocent passion, and dignified wife sublimation characterize the ideal of Indian womanhood, would have presented difficulties for an occasional player, but was beautifully portrayed by Penny Thomas, an East Indian student at Drake University, who came to the campus especially for the occasion.

Outstanding among the supporting players were Shakuntala's maiden companions, Priyamvada and Anasuya, played by Dorothy Kehart and Constance Bump. The best single performance outside the title roles was that of the King's jester, Madhavya. Bill Ward gave the part not only the mixture of acuteness and stupidity that is expected of the court and stage fool, but a real gift of mimicry and imitation, delighting the audience particularly with his elephantine impersonation.

Two other East Indians took parts in the play: Vimala Amolik, a student at Ball State Teachers College, and Nala Najan, distinguished professional dancer from New York, who subordinated minor acting roles to their beautifully polished exhibitions of Indian dancing. Especially interesting to the audience was the integration of the dance with the play; in Shakuntala it set the mood, developed the story, and embellished the theme.

The audience enjoyed also the pervading musical element of the play. Used not only for setting and interlude, but as joyous, sorrowful, or triumphant accompaniment to the body of the play, the liquid, fluting music swirled through the action.

The dialogue of the play also deserves comment. A mixture of prose and poetry, like the early dramatic medium of many cultures, it seemed suited to the natural innocence and freshness of an age when gods and men walked the earth and the heavens together. Inevitably, however, it lost effectiveness in translation, so that the simplicity of the prose seemed sometimes bare, and what should have been pure lyric emerged sometimes perilously close to doggerel.

Director Lee Morgan, who has done much research in East Indian drama, is to be congratulated on adopting a play, removed from the local and contemporary scene in time, culture, and technique, so successfully as to give his audience a new educational and intellectual experience.

The Board of Trustees of Illinois College held their annual meeting on Saturday morning at 9 a.m. in the faculty trustee room in Tanner library. In the president's report to the board, Dr. L. Vernon Caine stated that over the past three years the college has balanced its current operating budget each year with a small surplus. During this time endowment has been increased by about $200,000 and will go over the $2 million mark within the next few months. In reviewing the accomplishments of the past year, Dr. Caine pointed out that a new dormitory for women had been added to the campus facilities and that enrollment is more than 50% above the low point of a few years ago and will be about at capacity next fall.

Dr. Caine stated that there are three major evidences of Illinois College's standing as a superior institution of higher learning—a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa which is available to students in only 170 of the more than 1800 colleges and universities in the country; the highest percentage in the state of persons in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA in proportion to its enrollment and the rank of 26th in the nation in this respect; more than half of the full time faculty have earned doctorate degrees, five of whom have obtained the degree during the last two years while on the faculty.

Dr. Caine concluded his report by saying, "At the end of this 129th year, Illinois College is in a better position, as possibly never before, to go forward. Prospects for the future have never been so bright as now."

RETREATS SET FOR CHAPLAINS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Lutheran Council has scheduled five retreats—three of them in the United States—for more than 300 U.S. military chaplains throughout the world.

The retreats are held annually. The Rev. E. O. Midboe, executive director of the council's Bureau of Service to Military Personnel, "to give our chaplains the opportunity to keep in close touch with their churches."

Retreats will be held in Tokyo, July 7-9; Kaiserlautern, Germany, July 5-7; Washington, Oct. 21-22; Dallas, Nov. 18-19; and San Francisco, Jan. 13-14.

MINISTERIAL EXCHANGE PLANS

CHICAGO (AP)—The World Methodist Council is planning to expand its ministerial exchange program, which has been promoting international understanding for the last several years.

This year, seven American Methodist ministers will trade pulpits with a like number of English clergymen for a five week period during the summer.

The Rev. Dr. T. Otto Nail of Chicago, chairman of the American Ministerial Exchange Committee, says the council is looking toward the day when exchanges will be made with other European and Caribbean countries.

About one out of four students who enter college drops out before the end of the freshman year, the U.S. Office of Education reports.

Class Of '33 Plans For A Gay Old Time

The twenty-fifth anniversary of their graduation from Jacksonville High School, back in 1933, will be celebrated by members of the class, their wives and husbands on June 21st. The occasion will be marked with a banquet at six o'clock in the evening at Hotel Dunlap followed with dancing. The committee in charge has been hard at work ironing out last minute details. Those attending a meeting this past week at the Webster Seymour home, 412 North Prairie, are

June 16, Deadline
To date about 130 reservations have been made for the big night. Members of the class are scattered in 18 states, Africa and Hawaii. Acknowledgments have been received so far indicating grads will be attending from nine different states.

There is still time enough to make a reservation. The deadline is June 16th when all money for the banquet must be in the hands of the co-chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Webster Seymour. Tickets are three dollars per person or six dollars a couple.

The class colors, purple and gold, will be used in wrapping prizes to be awarded for various distinctions to be revealed at the reunion. Mrs. Terrance Brennan is in charge of decorating tables for the banquet. Following the meal, "Boots" Brennan will preside as master of ceremonies for informal fellowship to be followed with dancing until midnight. Music will be provided by talented members of the class of '33.

June Mission Society Meeting In Virginia

VIRGINIA—The June meeting of the Missionary Society of the local Christian church was held at the home of Mrs. Russell Knight. This was the annual guest day and began with a luncheon at noon. The Lynnville CWF members were guests.

Mrs. Arthur Zimmerman was the speaker of the afternoon and Mrs. Claude Jewsbury installed the following new officers: president, Mrs. Leslie Martin; vice president, Mrs. Russell Knight; secretary, Mrs. Ray Logan; treasurer, Mrs. Lee Hunt; study chairman, Mrs. Charles Adams; reporter, Mrs. Margery Kilby.

Twenty-nine members and guests were present.

Bible School Monday
The Vacation Bible School conducted by the Virginia Presbyterian church will open Monday morning, June 8, at 9 o'clock and will be held until 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Rollo Rexroat will be the superintendent of the school; Miss Mary Ann White will conduct the singing with Jackie Simmons at the piano; Mrs. Richard Fox will assist in the nursery. Mrs. Gladys French will teach the beginners. Mrs. Eddie Rogers will teach the primary class and Rev. Robert Hare will teach the juniors.

The following high school students will assist: Judy and Jill Montgomery, Carolyn Scott, Pearl Newberry, Doris French, Mary Ann Doherty, Martha Sue McCauley, Mrs. Richard Pugh has arranged for the food for the children.

Review of the Bible and Sunday school work will be given at the regular morning service Sunday, June 22.

Maps can be aged to give that look of antiquity before being framed. This is done by coating a map with white shellac.

Passavant Aid Plans '58 Follies

The Executive Committee of the Passavant Memorial Area Hospital Aid Society met in regular session Tuesday morning in the Conference Room of the hospital. Mrs. Claude Jewsbury presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. E. W. Brown.

Mrs. J. N. Conover, Chaplain of the Aid, presented beautiful devotions at the opening of the session in keeping with the vacation time. These moments are most inspiring.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer were given as well as the Gift Shop chairman, Mrs. Henry Dollear. Mrs. Dollear gave an interesting and informative report of the recent Gift Day luncheon.

Mrs. Claude Davis, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, presented Mr. Carpenter, a representative of the Jerome H. Carroll Producing Organizations, Inc. who produced the "High Fever Follies" in 1957 as a benefit for the Aid. Mr. Carpenter explained the plan to the group. It was decided that another production will be presented in the fall, probably October. Further plans will be announced in the near future.

The Aid Society voted to present tickets to the Civic Music programs to the Freshmen students as a part of the cultural program being presented to the student nurses.

A beautiful hand-made quilt was presented to the Ways and Means committee for disposal. This was a gift of Mrs. Minnie Hatch of Bluffs. Further plans for this money making project will be announced later.

This was the last meeting of the Board until October 7 unless the president sees fit to have call meetings.

Announcement was made of the American Hospital Association meeting to be held in Chicago August 18 to 21.

Mrs. Nelson E. Spaenhower

Fuelling-Spaenhower Rites At Meredosia

MEREDOSIA—In an afternoon ceremony Sunday, June first at the Arenzville Immanuel Lutheran church Miss Louella Mae Fuelling of Meredosia and Nelson E. Spaenhower of Jacksonville were united in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fuelling, east of Meredosia and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spaenhower, northeast of Jacksonville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. O. Schroeder. Before the ceremony Miss Vera Kay Fricke sang, "O Perfect Love." The organist was Miss Bernita Hoffmeier.

Miss Janell Fuelling was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Connie Spaenhower, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid.

William Markword of Jacksonville attended the groom as best man. Byron Fuelling, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Ushers were Harland Fuelling, another brother of the bride and David Hammond.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle and lace over satin. The high neckline was finished with a small collar and the bodice buttoned down the back from collar to waistline. The long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. Her veil was sheer illusion and she carried a bouquet of white and red carnations.

The attendants wore nylon net over satin sheath costumes with wide cummerbunds trimmed with rhinestones. They carried white carnations. The maid of honor wore blue and the bridesmaid lavender.

The mother of the bride chose pink for her daughter's wedding. She wore a white jacket matching the color of her accessories and her flowers were pink carnations.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a blue linen suit with white accessories and red carnations.

Reception at Church
A reception was held following the ceremony in the basement of the church. A four tiered wedding cake was featured on the late covered serving table where guests enjoyed fruit punch, cake, nutmeats and mints.

Mrs. Virginia Hickey, an aunt of the groom, served punch. Mrs. Josephine Patterson, sister of the bride, served cake, and another sister, Ruth Ann Fuelling, registered guests.

When the couple left on a honeymoon to the Ozarks the bride was wearing a blue chemise with blinding accessories. They will make their home at 941 Freedman street in Jacksonville.

The groom graduated from Jacksonville High School in 1956 and the bride graduated this June from Meredosia-Chambersburg High School.

Guests attended the wedding and reception from Macomb, Astoria, Virginia, Beardstown, Jacksonville, Quincy, Meredosia, Aurora and Golden, Ill., and from Missouri.

Girl From East, Hillview Man To Wed June 14

WHITE HALL—A wedding of interest to local friends will take place at Trinity church in Jacksonville, at 2 o'clock June 14, when Miss Catherine Lindsey, daughter of Mrs. C. D. Cheek, of Arvin, Calif. will wed Carl A. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Powell of Hillview.

The bride-elect was born in Washington, D. C. and with her family lived in the Panama Canal Zone until last June when she graduated from Cristobal High School.

The groom is a graduate of the Carrollton High School and attended one semester at Washington University, St. Louis, before enlisting in the U. S. Navy.

The couple met while Mr. Powell was in Panama. He is at present stationed at Norfolk, Va. A reception will be held at the Powell home following the ceremony.

The couple plan to live in Norfolk, Va., their address being Oceanview, at 181 A View Ave., Apt. 3.

If you want scrambled eggs to be fluffy, don't stir them continuously. Lift them from the bottom of the pan with a wide spatula and keep the heat fairly low.

FRANCIE KERLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kerley, 1415 South West street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Francie, to Harlan Chute, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Chute of Chambersburg.

Miss Kerley graduated from Jacksonville High School with the class of 1957. She has just completed her freshman year at Tennessee Temple College, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mr. Chute graduated from Meredosia High School, with the class of 1954. He is a junior at Tennessee Temple College majoring in music. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Eddy Tells Pilot Members About India

The club service committee was in charge of the June program for the Pilot Club of Jacksonville held last Wednesday evening at the Dunlap hotel. The benefits derived from Special Funds, one of the areas covered by the club committee, was discussed by Miss Eloise Ross. This included explanation of the "true course ever" fund that aids Pilots who, due to illness or misfortune, need financial assistance.

Miss Margaret Riley, chairman of the club service committee, presented the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Sherwood Eddy of Jacksonville, who is an honorary member of the group. For many years Mrs. Eddy was very active in YWCA work as an executive secretary. In more recent years she has traveled extensively and is particularly interested in the status of women the world over. At the present she is a member of the board of trustees at MacMurray College.

The Eddys recently returned from a five month trip around the world, four months of which were spent in India. Mrs. Eddy told of the major problems of that country, only recently independent.

Mrs. Eddy told of the very low average income per capita, the inertia of the people because of insufficient nourishment and the lack of education. On the brighter side there is the present basic education in the teaching of crafts, that will enable the people to support themselves.

She showed several products of their newly learned crafts, scarves, woven and embroidered with gold thread, bags and jewelry.

The problem of disease, health and sanitation is another major difficulty. The life span in India is very short in comparison to western peoples and the average age is presently 30 years. The World Health program is doing much to fight tuberculosis and malaria in India. Leprosy is another major setback. The learned speaker told the Pilots and the country is fighting to

TO MEET SUNDAY AT GIRLS' CABIN

Road rolling near Lake Jacksonville has brought a change in the meeting place of the Boy Scout Round Table, which was to be held in conjunction with a steak fry at the Boy Scout cabin at 6 p.m. Sunday. It will be held instead at the Girl Scout cabin.

OLD BLACKSMITH ACCEPTS SPACE AGE

YORK SPRINGS, Pa. (AP) — George M. Myers, a blacksmith whose pride would not permit him to accept the automobile, has finally bowed to the space age. He plans to visit New York next week, traveling by plane.

The trip grew out of a taunt that he had never traveled far from his central Pennsylvania home.

"Why don't you pick yourself up and go on a plane trip?" one of his daughters asked.

"Not until I'm 80," Myers retorted. That will be next Friday and his family is holding him to his promise. He has a son, Arthur, in New York City.

Mexico's Independence Day is Sept. 16, marking the date when Mexicans revolted against Spanish rule in 1810.

HONOR MEMBER ADDRESSES PILOT CLUB

Mrs. Sherwood Eddy of Jacksonville, noted lecturer and world traveler and an honorary member of the Pilot Club of Jacksonville, was guest speaker at the meeting held June 4 at Hotel Dunlap. Mrs. Eddy told her interested audience about her observations in India on a recent tour of that country. Pictured above are, left to right, Miss Margaret Riley, club service chairman who introduced the speaker, Mrs. Eddy and the club president, Miss Vera Seaton.

Earl Brown Weds Peoria Girl

Joyce Janssen and Earl Henry Brown

A former Jacksonville man, Earl Henry Brown, now of Peoria and Miss Joyce Lorraine Janssen, also of Peoria, were united in marriage in that city on May 28th at the Bethel Evangelical Lutheran church. The ceremony was performed at seven o'clock in the evening by the Reverend Frederick M. Bunge.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lorraine I. Janssen of Peoria and the late Andrew G. Janssen. The groom is the son of Mrs. Ray Cox, formerly of Jacksonville and now residing in Peoria.

Mrs. Francis C. Hammitt of Peoria attended the bride and groom. Hammitt served the groom as best man. The bride wore an eyelet embroidered blue polished cotton street length dress. She chose a white lace hat and white basic accessories. Her arm bouquet was of white carnations tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Hammitt wore pink linen with embroidered trim and a white lace hat. Her flowers were also white carnations.

A wedding dinner was served at 8 o'clock at the Madison Dining House in Peoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home at 1310 West Hanes Place in Peoria. The bride is a graduate of Manual Training High School in Peoria where she is also a member of the Peoria Symphony Orchestra. She is employed in that city at the Central Illinois Light Company.

The groom is a graduate of Jacksonville High School and is a Navy veteran having served during World War Two and in the Korean conflict. He is employed by the Northern Regional Research Laboratory and by the Clugsten Memorial Home in Peoria.

Franklin Missionary Group Names Officers

FRANKLIN — The Missionary Society of the Christian church elected officers when they met at the home of Mrs. Estelle Simpson with 11 members present.

Mrs. Mabel Watson had charge of the devotion, reading from Matthew and the Upper Room also two poems "The Weaver" and "Fellowship." Mrs. Irene Campbell was program leader and her topic was "Christian Personalities of Japan." Those assisting her were Mrs. Nora Cline, Mrs. Minnie Sweet, Mrs. Marian Brim and Mrs. Geneva Sweet.

After the program the following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Essie Henderson; vice president, Mrs. Nora Cline; secretary, Miss Lou Duncan; treasurer, Mrs. Geneva Sweet. The meeting closed with the benediction.

Mrs. Elizabeth Burnett was a guest. Refreshments were served during the social hour by the hostess. Next meeting will be July 9 with Mrs. Mabel Watson.

Mrs. Harry Whitlock took her daughter Sharon to Galesburg last week to take the bus for Cody, Wyoming, to spend the summer with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Whitlock.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Keplinger returned home after two weeks spent at their cottage at Manitou Springs. Mrs. Alice Erhart stayed in the home here.

Mrs. William Wilkinson and daughter Melody of Peoria spent several days with her mother, Mrs. Vera Seymour, while her husband was on a fishing trip.

The Misses Barbara Camm and Judy Fitzhugh are attending the Egyptian Music Camp at DuQuoin this week. Mr. and Mrs. Barnard Camm will drive down and attend the concert this Saturday and bring the girls home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Cheryl and Pamela and friend, Carol of Hammond, Ind., visited his sister, Mrs. Minnie Little, and daughter Nancy. Miss Nancy Little and her mother have charge of the telephone office here.

Friends of the Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Leonard were sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Leonard at the Culbertson hospital in Rushville last Monday. The Rev. Leonard was formerly pastor of the Franklin and Durbin Methodist churches.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ore and daughter, Mrs. Maxine Riggs, and children visited his cousin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gilmore, one evening this week.

Mrs. Ralph Dahman will drive to Macomb to bring her daughter, Carolyn home. Carolyn will be a senior at Western University next year.

The Rev. George J. Garria will leave next week to attend the annual Conference at Bloomington. He is pastor at the Franklin and Durbin churches.

Mrs. S. J. Camm and Margaret, Mrs. Barnard Camm, Mrs. Hershey Crain, Mrs. O. E. Ryan and Leona drove to Merritt to visit Mrs. George Hardwick a cousin of the Camms recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Redfern of Virden and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Harrell of Bloomington, Ind., have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rolston, and have left to visit their sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brown, in Norfolk, Va., and to see places of interest in the East, including Jamestown, Washington, D.C., and Williamsburg. Brown is to leave soon for a three month cruise in the Mediterranean and Mrs. Brown expects to come home while her husband is away.

Four From This Area To Attend Boys State

Four boys of the Jacksonville area will attend Premier Boys State, sponsored by the American Legion, Department of Illinois, June 22 through June 29 in the Youth Economics building at the Illinois State Fairgrounds in Springfield.

Among the many boys registered for the sessions in civics and government are John Edward Fitzpatrick, 510 East College avenue, Peoria, and a tall flower arrangement of huge white roses, peonies and Japanese iris.

The guest list included Emily Hunter, La Belle, Nerriman, Mac Hunt, Carla Jo Ruh, Celina Marshall, Marianne Glangreco of Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Evanda Ranson, Zelma Self, Barbara Luback of Arlington, Va.; Correne Davidsmeyer, Vilma Kendall and the bride-to-be, Kay Kendall.

This is the fourth in a series of showers given for Miss Kendall, who is to be married Sunday, June 8th to Donald Mueller of Chapin.

A girl's best friend when she's traveling is a warm wool cardigan. It may surprise you unpleasantly to find that outside of this country central heating is not general. Cold, damp weather can make you uncomfortable even in summer travels.

Miss Kay Kendall, of 212 Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kendall, was honored guest at a lovely June breakfast and personal shower, given by Mrs. Paul Davidsmeyer, 296 Sandusky on Wednesday morning at 10:30.

The low gift table, arranged in front of the fireplace, featured a bride doll and a tall flower arrangement of huge white roses, peonies and Japanese iris.

The guest list included Emily Hunter, La Belle, Nerriman, Mac Hunt, Carla Jo Ruh, Celina Marshall, Marianne Glangreco of Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Evanda Ranson, Zelma Self, Barbara Luback of Arlington, Va.; Correne Davidsmeyer, Vilma Kendall and the bride-to-be, Kay Kendall.

Alpha Delta Kappa Supper Closes Season

Twenty-three members of the Omicron chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa, sorority for teachers, enjoyed, as their final meeting of the year, a potluck supper on Thursday evening, June 5, at Nichols Park. The newly initiated members of the sorority, Mrs. Tamar Burch, Miss Hazel Blake, Mrs. Charlene Strubbe, and Mrs. Marie Lansink were the guests of honor.

Following the delicious meal, the members discussed tentative plans for the ensuing year. The new president, Mrs. Majel Siegrist, announced the appointment of the following committees:

Program: Mrs. Mildred Pack, chairman; Mrs. Mildred Kane, Mrs. Nona Read, and Mrs. Loreta Seymour; Ways and Means: Mrs. Frances Moy, chairman; Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Tamar Burch, and Mrs. Marie Lansink; Altaristic: Mrs. Eva Daniel, chairman; Mrs. Charlene Strubbe, Mrs. Lucille Jones, and Miss Irah Lewis; Pledge: Mrs. Ruth Ranson, chairman; Mrs. Lucille Streuter, and Mrs. Agnes Tiemann; Bond chairman: Mrs. Thelma Willard; Courtesy and Publicity chairman: Mrs. June Brand.

The next meeting of the sorority will be held at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday evening, Sept. 3, at the home of Mrs. Majel Siegrist, 837 West State street.

Franklin Group Meets At Home Of Mrs. Hermes

FRANKLIN—The Altar Society met at the home of Mrs. Albert Hermes with Mrs. Fred Bergschneider as assistant hostess.

The Rosary was followed by a short business meeting attended by Fr. Cassidy. Buncos was played and those receiving prizes were Mrs. Leo Bergschneider, Mrs. Virgil Watts and Mrs. Leo Allen. Mrs. James Johnson received the door prize.

Guests were Mrs. Josephine Walsh, Frank Hermes, Raymond Pitchford, F. A. Johnson, George Dorwart and Miss Anna L. Hermes. Refreshments were served by the hostesses. The next meeting to be with Mrs. Raymond Fuchs, and Mrs. Clark Dodsword assistant hostess.

The Friendly Madsen 4-H Club met with their sponsor, Mrs. Harry Whitlock. Plans were made to participate in the Share-the-Fun day to be held in Jacksonville, June 20th.

Tania Adams was elected as the local candidate for Queen for the occasion. She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Sam Adams. Four demonstrations were given "Toils for Sewing" Jo Ann Martin, "How to Thread a Sewing Machine" Agnes Gray, "Decorated Eggs" Carolyn Rees and "Measuring Ingredients" Joana Smith.

Two Jacksonville Educators Serve At Symposium

Two Jacksonville educators and a University of Illinois professor will feature first-week activities, June 9-11, at MacMurray College's third summer Special Education symposium.

Ivan K. Garrison, Director of Special Education for the Jacksonville public schools and Director of the symposium, will present an introduction Monday, June 9, of basic concepts for the selection of superior students. He will lead discussions in preparation of programs for the overview of status of programs for the gifted.

He will be followed by Dr. James J. Gallagher, Associate Professor for the Institute for Research on Exceptional Children, University of Illinois, and Miss Edith Ruyle, Coordinator for the Project for Mentally Superior Children, Jacksonville public schools.

Miss Ruyle will present an overview of the Jacksonville program for talented students, and its relation to the symposium workshop. She will discuss how the children are selected for the workshop, the main objective of the workshop, and the relation of the workshop to the total program.

She is a graduate of the Pennsylvania State University with a Master's degree from the University of Illinois. Returning to Pennsylvania, she was certified as a teacher for the mentally superior.

Active in educational organizations, Miss Ruyle was a classroom teacher. She is a member of AAUW, holds a chapter office in Delta Kappa Gamma, and is associated with the Council for Exceptional Children, including membership in the newly organized Association of Educators of Gifted Children.

Mr. Garrison is president of the Illinois Council for Exceptional Children.

A new margarine, sold only through drug stores but not by prescription, is directed at persons with heart disease or other occlusion (a form of hardening of the arteries) who are on low fat diets. The margarine is made chiefly from nonhydrogenated corn oil—an unsaturated fat that may be of value in lowering cholesterol levels. Designed for cooking, as well as for a spread, the product may be used by a whole family. It includes the vitamin fortifications now customary in standard margarine and requires refrigeration.

Barbara Potter showed how to measure material for a skirt. Gloria McDaniel's talk was "Choosing a Cloth Right for You." Sharon Floyd brought her embroidered luncheon cloth and told some things about embroidering.

Dianna Hammond demonstrated sifting and measuring flour. Patsy Schlicker showed how to make a hidden hem, using a contrasting thread so that the stitches could be more easily seen.

Sandra Floyd, Sandra Flynn and Kay Pate will serve refreshments at the next meeting. Pamela Battefeld and Carol Dungey served grape drink and cookies.

WHITE HALL—The Lions Club met Wednesday night at the Hilltop Hotel and the program chairman, W. J. Ritchey, presented Charles P. Smith of Alton as guest speaker. Mr. Smith is at the present time a field representative of the Baptist State Convention and has spent 30 years in public relations, personnel psychology and industrial accident prevention in the steel industry.

A letter from Wayne Mulkey of Beardstown was read and a new white cane sent to him by the club. Guests included Don Kesinger and David Coker, who were present with their fathers, M. D. Kesinger and George E. Coker.

To Enforce Curfew

The city council met on Tuesday night and, following numerous recent reports on vandalism in and around the city, voted to enforce the city curfew ordinance. The ordinance states that no children under the age of 16 will be allowed to congregate or loiter on the streets after the curfew, which hours will be from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. Sept. 1 to May 1, and 9:30 p.m. to 6 a.m. May 1 to Sept. 1. Any child going directly home from a particular affair or entertainment will be excluded. Children accompanied by parents or guardians are also exempt.

A motion was made for the adoption of a resolution to appropriate $16,600 for the maintaining and oiling of arterial city streets, which motion carried. A motion was made and also carried which provided for an appropriation of $8,000 for maintaining and oiling of non-arterial streets.

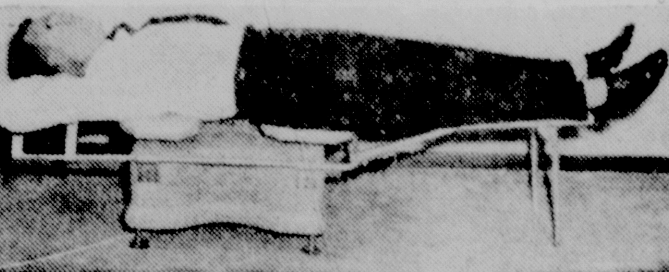

The members also voted each city employee one week of vacation with pay. Employees also are entitled to one week's sick leave.

Stamp Collectors Get Their Own Wall Street

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK —(NEA)—If Jack Taub's hunch is right, stamp collecting may eventually become a profitable hobby for millions of people.

"Right now, of course, it's a cut-throat business," Taub said. "But we're doing what we can, and showing some real signs of success."

Taub is chairman of the newly-formed New York Stamp Exchange, which is trying to do for 15 million collectors and dealers what the Stock Exchange does for investors and brokers.

"We'll be trading about $2,000,000 worth of stamps this year," he said. "That's not too much when you consider that the stamp collecting world trades over $100,000,000. But it's a start."

In stamps, he explained, it's all too easy to make a profit — on paper only.

"You have a stamp, for example, that cost you a dollar when you bought it," he said. "Then you read that it's worth $10. So you try to sell it to a dealer. And you find out that no dealer will give you $10, and no two dealers will offer the same price."

The Exchange, originally backed by three large dealers, is trying to overcome this kind of unsure market. Each week the Exchange publishes a market letter with bid and asked prices, a commentary on the week's trading, and a graph-view of the stamp scene.

Information for the newsletter is gathered from large and small dealers across the country who may become Exchange members. Today the market report goes to 4,500 subscribers.

The Exchange has found that its trading facilities are used by three times more non-collectors than album sellers.

Why? "Because," Taub said, "investing in stamps is a remarkable way to build a nest-egg."

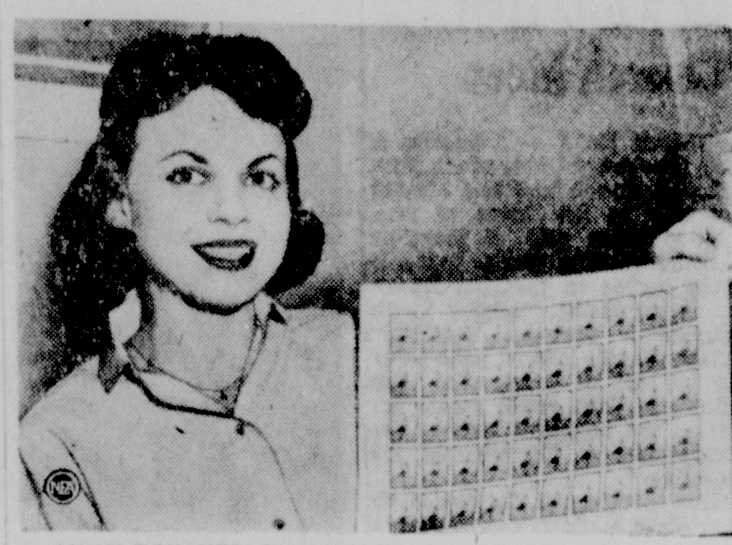

Stamp values are based only on supply and demand. There is no management to consider, no contract awards, no strikes—none of the things that affect stocks and bonds.

And for the most part, stamp values can only go up as time cuts down the supply.

There was a quick scarcity in United Nations stamps that brought the Exchange into being, although Taub had been considering the possibility for some time.

The U. N. Post Office, which had been printing its own stamps for their publicity value, found itself overstocked on several issues. The solution: burn the unsold stamps and print fewer of the new issues.

The result: scarcity, and zooming prices. And so, a sheet of U. N. stamps that cost $6 last year is now worth $350 on the Exchange.

$42,000 BONANZA: Stephanie Butens holds one of 100 sheets of U.N. stamps willed to her. She discovered their worth when she took them to the New York Stamp Exchange.

Darr-Huyear Nuptials At St. John's Church

CARROLLTON — At a nuptial high Mass performed at ten a.m. Saturday, June 7, by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Michael Enright in the Carrollton St. John's Catholic church, Miss Mary Lou Huyear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Huyear, became the bride of Ronald E. Darr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Darr of Carrollton. The double ring ceremony was used.

The church had been decorated with baskets of pink and white gladioli for the ceremony and during the service the bride placed a bouquet of red roses at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

The soloist for the service was George Schmelten of Carrollton and the organ accompaniment was played by Mrs. Lawrence Thien also of Carrollton.

Wears Beautiful Gown

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowning in a pure white imported Swiss embroidered organza dress fashioned with a scalloped sabina neckline and brief sleeves. The molded bodice had small covered buttons down the back and large pannier puffs at the waistline at the back. The sufficient skirt which was worn over layers of crinoline and hoops was also scalloped and had triple tiers of pleated organza encircling it and ending in a full court train. A small embroidered organza and seed pearl hat held the fingertip veil of scalloped French illusion. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white butterfly roses and stephanotis with a cluster of pink aristocrat roses and ivy leaves.

Cousin Maid of Honor

The maid of honor was Miss Mary Helen Ostermann, Carrollton, cousin of the bride and the bridesmaids were Miss Doris Ann Caffery and Miss Peggy Schneit, both former classmates of the bride. The best man was John Behnd, cousin of the groom and the groomsmen were Robert Schneit and Robert Steckel of Carrollton. The ushers were Andrew Kuhlmeier, brother-in-law of the bride and Gary Darr, brother of the groom.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore floor length dresses of white Velva-ray nylon over colored satins and net in shades of aqua, yellow and blue. They were identically fashioned and the fitted bodices were complemented with a wide scooped neckline and brief cap sleeves. The bouffant skirts were worn over hoops and were fashioned with wide folds of matching taffeta, starting at the hipline and continuing to the back, ending in a large bow. They were matching picture hats with wide brims made of hair braid and trimmed with velvet bows. They carried wicker rings with clusters of feathered carnations and stephanotis entwined with miniature ivy foliage.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Hilltop Hotel at White Hall and a reception was held from 2:30 until 4:30 at the Knights of Columbus hall in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Darr entertained at a wedding dance in the Knights of Columbus hall from 9 p.m. until 12 p.m. Saturday evening. Serving at the reception in the afternoon were Mrs. Andrew Kuhlmeier, Greenfield, sister of the bride, Miss Mary Helen Ostermann, Miss Elizabeth Behnd, Carrollton, Miss Georgene Schild and Mrs. Max Brannan, Eldred.

Mr. and Mrs. Darr are making their home at 132 Main street in Biloxi, Mississippi and will go there following a wedding trip to points of interest in Wisconsin. They also plan to visit in New Orleans before going to Biloxi where the groom is stationed at the Kessler Airforce Base.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fitzsimmons and son, Pat, of Pana and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fitzsimmons of Oconomowoc, Wis., were weekend guests of relatives and friends in the Bluffs community.

The Harold Fitzsimmons were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Dunham, Jr., and the Earl Fitzsimmons of his aunt, Mrs. Florence Albers. Much time was spent with their mother, Mrs. Laura Placke, and aunts, Mrs. Tillie Benz, Mrs. Louise Elvidge and Mrs. Lydia Elvidge. The Mesdames Elvidge have been visiting in Bluffs the past several weeks. They accompanied the Pana folks to Litchfield to the home of Mrs. Louise Elvidge. Mrs. Lydia Elvidge will continue on to her home in Peru, Ind.

Sgt. Melvin Engelbrecht of Ft. Bragg, N. C., visited over the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aldo Engelbrecht.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schwagmeyer and daughters of Atlanta, Ga., were weekend guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krusa of Bluffs and Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Schwagmeyer of Chapin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pahlmann and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Nortrup, Mrs. Herman Pahlmann and Doris Pahlmann were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herman W. Pahlmann of Wood River.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Albright and son, Bill, of Chicago, were weekend guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Albright.

Paul Huddleston who has been a patient at Our Saviour's hospital for the past two months has returned home. He was seriously burned.

Mrs. Nora Barrett and daughter, Mrs. Ruth Thomas of Chandler, left this week for a four week vacation trip through the southeast with Daytona Beach, Fla., their destination.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee Griffin and daughter, who have been residing in Van Nuys, Calif. for the past two years are now living in the Grimes property on Route 100 south of Bluffs. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin.

Mrs. James Carpenter of San Mateo, Calif., was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moore. The ladies attended MacMurray graduation activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Woodall and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Woodall and daughter and her father, Mr. Vogelhund, of Peoria were guests of Mrs. P. R. Schwartz Friday.

Mrs. P. R. Schwartz attended a luncheon at the Mascout Athletic Club in St. Louis given by the East St. Louis Women's Club, in which her daughter, Mrs. Leroy Keesberg, was retiring president. She was accompanied by Miss Edith Hyatt, who visited Miss Laura Baker in Belleville. Mrs. Schwartz also attended graduation exercises for her grandson, Paul Schwartz, and a buffet supper given at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Schwartz.

4-H Club Activities

PATTERSON — The Golden Grove 4-H Club held its monthly meeting Monday evening, May 26, in the Patterson School gymnasium.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Ronnie Ford, followed by the pledges to the American and 4-H flags. The minutes were read and approved and roll call was taken with all members being present. The regular routine of business was carried out and talks were given by Wayne Jones and Ronnie Ford. A committee of two, Doris Jones and Melvin Barnett, was appointed to make out the program for the remainder of the year.

After the meeting adjourned refreshments of pie and a drink were served by two of the mothers.

The next regular meeting will be held June 23 in the Patterson School gymnasium. Visitors and new members will be welcomed.

The club was glad to welcome Ronnie Hart, Bobby Hart, Billie Boston, Bobby Boston, Jim Dawdy, David Lee Dawdy and Donnie Burton at this meeting.

The Alexander Girls' 4-H club discussed plans for going to camp when they met June 5 at the home of Carolyn Crethel who is reported by Marie Johnson.

The president, Marilyn Johnson, conducted the meeting which included a talk by Donna Nelkirk on "What to do in Case of Sunstroke." Judy Johnson demonstrated "How to Cut Salad Vegetables" and Carolyn Crethel, "Sewing a Dart."

Estelene Scribner And William Worrall United

Miss Estelene Scribner, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Scribner, 115 East Michigan Avenue, became the bride of William Worrall of Winchester, Ill., at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 1, at First Presbyterian Church. Rev. Joseph Baus performed the simple but impressive double ring ceremony.

Robert Wegehof presided at the organ. Mrs. Joe Leiber was soloist singing "Because" and "Oh Lord I Pray Thee."

The bride wore a navy blue two piece suit - dress. A small white hat of nylon, trimmed with rhinestones, white shirred Helanca nylon gloves completed her accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Adella Newbaugh of Belleville attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a pink silk dress with white accessories. Her corsage was tinted pale blue carnations.

John Worrall served his brother as best man. Both wore navy blue business suits.

The ushers were John Scribner, nephew of the bride, and Kenneth Dobson, nephew of the groom.

New gifts to MacMurray College totaling $93,000 were received during commencement weekend, President Louis W. Norris announced yesterday.

A pledge of $37,500 toward the new Science Building was received from the Kresge Foundation of Detroit, Mich. This gift, conditional upon the raising of the balance of funds for the Science Building by June 1, 1960, represents the second major gift to MacMurray College from the Kresge Foundation within the past two years. A $50,000 gift toward Blackstock House, the first of at least four new dormitories for men, was made by the Kresge Foundation in June, 1956.

An anonymous gift of $10,000 toward the new Science Building was made by a MacMurray alumna.

A bequest of $31,000 from Mrs. Russell B. Gibson, alumna in the class of 1891, who died recently at her home in Daytona Beach, Fla., has been received and will be applied toward the construction of the new athletic field.

Funds already paid or pledged to the Founder's Program, including these new gifts, now total more than $284,000, President Norris pointed out.

Ann Marshall Orr, MacMurray alumna and Trustee, of St. Louis, Mo., presented a gift of $6,000 for rewiring and redecorating the Art Department, on the fourth floor of Music Hall. Last year, Mrs. Orr gave MacMurray funds to refurbish the Ann Marshall Orr Auditorium in the Music Building.

A pledge of $5,000 was received from Mrs. Julius Blum, Class of 1911, to apply toward the proposed Student Union.

The MacMurray College Recreation Association and Macquatic Club, both student organizations, presented a gift of $2,000 for an endowed scholarship, with the first award to be made this fall.

PRETTY SPORTY, BOAT LAYS GOLDEN EGG

Bowling balls could hardly be termed a "golden egg" but a few of the right weight and grip would be a boon to a ten-pin enthusiast.

George Dermody, 712 North Main, decided to make some last minute checks on his boat before leaving on a fishing jaunt Friday evening and went out in the back yard where the boat was overturned to protect it from the weather.

When he turned the boat over, there was a new bowling ball complete with carrying case underneath.

Mr. Dermody called the police station and patrolman Armstrong responded to the call. Both men were unable to determine how the bowling ball got there but at last reports he turned the boat upside down again and is waiting for one that will fit his grip.

Mission Groups
Of White Hall
Church Meet

WHITE HALL — A meeting of the Missionary Circle of the First Baptist church was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Alma Fisher with 14 members attending. Mrs. Doris Spangenberg served as program leader using the theme, "Helping Youth Choose a Christian Vocation." Plans for the annual houseparty to be held at Jacksonville were discussed. Mrs. Stella Tucker assisted the hostess in serving refreshments at the close of the meeting.

The members of the Missionary Society of the First Baptist church met Tuesday afternoon at the church with 18 members and one guest present. The group sang "Unto the Hills" as the opening theme song for the year, followed by prayer by the president, Mrs. Owdom. Eleanor Davidson, Ruby Glossop and Marjorie Bateman were in charge of the program. Devotions from Psalm 61 were led by Mrs. Edith Chastain. Miss Emma Thiet presented the Spiritual Life report.

A gift was sent to Katy Lou Williamson, special interest home missionary, whose wedding will be in June.

To Your Europe

Miss Barbara Biggs

PITTSFIELD — A Pittsfield girl, Miss Barbara Biggs, daughter of Mrs. Dean Artman of here and granddaughter of Mrs. Isabel Green of Jacksonville, is a member of a group of 16 girls who will sail July 1st for an extended tour in Europe. Also a member of the group is Barbara's cousin, Beverly Ann Sim, daughter of Mrs. Artman's sister, Mrs. Wright Sim of Hastings, Michigan.

Miss Biggs will return Monday to Pittsfield from attending commencement exercises for the 1958 class at Hastings High School, Hastings, Michigan, of which her cousin, Miss Sim, was a member.

The European trip which she will take with the group of students is under the guidance of Dr. and Mrs. Ray E. Holcomb of MacMurray College.

The group will meet in New York City July 1st, and sail the following day.

Dr. and Mrs. Artman plan to take Barbara to New York City where they will be met by her cousin, Beverly Ann.

There will be approximately 1200 on board the student ship upon which the group will sail. They will have eight days aboard ship in crossing, during which time they will be offered classes in various subjects to better prepare them for the full enjoyment and appreciation of their tour.

They will spend six days in Paris touring the city and visiting the theaters and ballet. They will visit the World's Fair in Belgium and spend some time in London and visit Stratford on Avon.

In Scotland they will attend a ten day workshop on all phases of the theater, including drama, music and art.

On their return trip they will sail from Southampton and dock at Quebec on August 27th. The two young girls will be met by their mothers, Mrs. Artman and Mrs. Sim.

Barbara, a 1958 graduate of the Pittsfield high school, was president of the dramatics club, placed in several speech contests, a member of the Annual staff, Red Cross Junior Council, Spanish Club and GAA. She plans to attend Rollins College at Winter Park, Florida, next year.

Those attending the 5th anniversary of the class of '33 were Mrs. Virginia Kleinschmidt Nickel, Anchorage, Alaska; Miss Donna Lou McLain, Beardstown, Miss Barbara Parkerson; Mrs. Melba Schleuter Horner, Jacksonville.

Mrs. Lydia McCarty Engelbach, Coyle came for the latter part of the program, and she was recognized as a member of the class of '33, celebrating her 65th anniversary.

The program, continued with vocal solos by Wayne Strubbe, "The World Is Waiting For The Sunrise" and "Without A Song," accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Herbert Strubbe.

Mrs. Mildred Reads History read an interesting history of the first thirty years of the Alumni, which had been prepared by Robert Brasel. Dinner music was furnished by Robert Wegehoff of Concord on his Hammond organ.

The retiring officers are president, William Huffman; Vice-President, John Clark; Secretary, Mrs. Mary Frances McLain; Stenographer, Mrs. Marie Brainer Paul.

The committees included: Program, Robert Brasel; Mrs. Alice Schone Middendorf; Mrs. Mildred Hierman Detrick; Mrs. Dorothy Roegge Peck; Gerald Beard.

Nominating, Robert Kircher; DeLain Schlake; George Harold Musch.

Menu, Mrs. Roberta Paul Meyer; Mrs. Grace Zulauf Schmitter.

Decorating, Mrs. Helen Thyen Kays; Mrs. Irene McCleod Peck; Mrs. Sherry Peck Rawlings; Mrs. Patricia Schmitter Roegge; Mrs. Jean Zulauf Clark.

900 Dressings
Distributed By Cancer Society

Nine hundred dressings have been distributed to cancer patients in Morgan county by the local chapter of the American Cancer society during the past three months, according to a report made by Mrs. James Cash, service chairman, at the quarterly meeting of the society held at Passavant hospital. Nearly 1,000 dressings were made by volunteer workers during March, April, and May. Six patients have received service, Mrs. Cash said.

The society's educational program was discussed by Mrs. Ben Negus, education chairman. During the period from December, 1957, to May, 1958, there were 24 showings of films explaining the danger signals of cancer and recommended procedures. The films were seen by about 900 persons. The society distributed 2,309 pieces of literature during the same period, and a total of 10 talks on the subject of cancer were made before local groups.

A budget of $1,150 for the coming year was adopted. The group voted to purchase a hospital bed and plastic mattress for the Morgan County Chapter's loan chest. The bed, with other sickroom items, are available free of charge to cancer patients.

Reports 77 Visits
The new budget includes a $500 item to cover the per visit cost of the newly organized Visiting Nurse Association for visits to cancer patients unable to pay this cost.

Mrs. Jean Earle, county health nurse, reported that 77 cancer patient visits have been made by the County Health Department this year.

A slate of officers and directors presented by Ralph Bersell, chairman of the nominating committee, was accepted. The committee included Mrs. Milton Hocking, Mrs. James Cash, and Mrs. Elmer Lukeman.

Ralph Jones will continue as chairman of the Morgan County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, with Dr. Walter Meyer as vice-chairman. Mrs. Milton Hocking was named secretary and William Schildman will serve as treasurer.

Chairman of Education
Mrs. Arthur Hallerberg is public education chairman, with Mrs. James Cash and Mrs. R. W. Jess as co-chairmen of the service committee. John Hinde is publicity chairman.

The medical and nursing professions will be represented on the board of directors by Dr. C. E. Black, Dr. E. C. Bone, Dr. James Chapman, Dr. Albert Fricke, Dr. H. V. Norris, Dr. Harvey Scott, and Mrs. James Chapman.

Lay members of the board are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bersell, Mrs. William Doolin, Mrs. Lawrence Mallicoat, the Rev. Harvey Durrell, the Rev. David McCreary, Mrs. Ross Bradley, Howard Proctor, Mrs. Thomas Butler, Mrs. Ben Negus, Mrs. Guy Hicks, Mrs. S. N. Osborne, Mrs. H. C. Merriman, Joe Bagale, Mrs. Max Thompson, Mrs. Violet Auwater, Mrs. Warren Brockhouse, Mrs. P. J. Davidmeyer, and Mrs. Lee Sullivan, Jr.

Mrs. Ben Negus and Dr. James Chapman were named convention delegates.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Fox of Virginia rural route 3 will be honored next Sunday, June 15, on their 40th wedding anniversary.

Open house will be held by their children from 2 to 5 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fox. Their friends are cordially invited to attend.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Butcher hog receipts in No. 1 grade again were scarce and all weight ranges this week extremely so for those under 230 lbs. The price decline of 25 cents was on weights over 240 lbs.

Prices declined sharply through midweek on the considerably larger receipts but the setback was almost entirely recovered Thursday and Friday on the smaller offerings.

Receipts on the 12 markets for the five days totaled 235,000 head, an increase of about 35 per cent during the week.

On Friday, the average price of hogs and gilts was estimated at $22.50 a hundredweight compared with the high of $23.61 on May 14.

Cattle offerings were the largest for any week in six months and equalled the heaviest run for a week since September. At the 12 major markets, the supply was a record high for five months but the receipts included some cattle held back from last week because of the Memorial Day holiday.

Fully 70 per cent of the Chicago supply were slaughter steers with about 90 per cent of the steers grading good and choice. Prime kinds again were scarce.

Choice slaughter steers were 50 cents to $1 lower for the week with other grades mainly weak to 50 cents lower.

Slaughter lamb prices were generally 25 cents to $1 lower for the week with most of the decline on weights over 110 lbs but receipts were about 10 per cent under last week.

The average weight of slaughter lamb offerings again ran well over 110 lbs with lightweight spring lambs and ewes scarce.

CHICAGO (AP)—(USDA)—Following is a summary for the week of the hog, cattle and sheep markets:

Hogs 100, total 100 (estimated); a few lots of No. 1 and 2 195-200 lb brought 23.25-23.75 and most No. 2 and 3 190-225 lb weights 22.75-23.25. WEATHER DOMINATED GRAIN FUTURES IN WEEK'S TRADING

By GIL MAYO
CHICAGO (AP) — Weather was the dominant factor in grain futures trading this week and it was mostly bearish.

The only exception on the Board of Trade was in the July and September contracts which finished with small gains. All other contracts were on the losing side with the broadest setback in wheat.

The two rye deliveries maintained their firmness on reports that the northwest, where most of the nation's supply of the grain is grown, again received rain.

Fairly steep declines in all grains early in the week were hooked to reports of good rainfall in most of the Midwest over the Memorial Day weekend, but traders said the setbacks merely corrected an over-bullish feeling that a damaging drop in corn withstood the general weakness well, however, on diminishing supplies of the grain in commercial channels and the simple fact that producers are not selling enough to replenish the dealer stocks.

With exports maintaining a good rate under the subsidy program, speculative traders have been very wary about selling corn short. Moreover, since so little of the grain is coming to terminal markets, hedge selling has been at a minimum.

Wheat was 3-4 1/2 cents a bushel lower than a week ago, corn 1/4-1/2 lower with most of the decline on the new crops, oats 1-5 lower, rye 2 cents higher to 1 cent lower, soybeans 3/4-1/2 lower, and hard 20 to 48 cents a hundred pounds lower.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Corporate bonds advanced this week but the market for U.S. government securities turned irregularly lower. The corporate rise was on expanded volume. It was buttressed by solid advances by industrial, rails and investment quality issues. Foreign bonds edged narrowly higher. Utilities, however, were off sharply.

Trading for the week mounted to $29,727,500 par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $20,771,500 for the previously holiday-shortened week. This compared with $20,491,000 for the same week in 1957.

kin matter with him. Sources said Beumet then co-operated fully with the FBI and told agents he met the Soviet diplomat socially last fall. As the two men became friendly, the sources said, Kurochkin told Beumet he was interested in writing.

According to this account, Kurochkin didn't ask for classified data as such, but that some material he asked Beumet to get would not be of a secret nature.

However, Beumet knew some of the material Kurochkin wanted was classified and didn't give it to the Russian, the sources said. The Russian is expected to leave the country by the end of this week.

The State Department's action declaring Kurochkin persona non grata—personally not welcome—came about three weeks after Russia had expelled a young American diplomat on grounds of improper behavior. The United States denied the charge.

program or take lower price supports and an increase in acreage. Feed grains—likely to be the most controversial plan. Farmers could choose between no price supports or controls of any kind, or one of two alternative plans. One would call for price supports but no controls or marketing quotas, the other for price supports and rigid controls.

Rice — the escalator clause would be suspended for three years, with annual acreage allotments not less than that set for 1958.

DE GAULLE CABINET BACKS UNITY DRIVE

Gaulle's Cabinet also decided to send to Algeria a top civil administrator to work with Salan. The administrator, as yet unnamed, would have the title of secretary general.

Tells Salan
De Gaulle told Salan the committee of public safety in Algeria under no circumstances have the powers of the regular authorities. This was what he told members of the French civilian-military junta to their faces in a final meeting at Oran.

Salan was told the committee then could work under his control—to unite public opinion in support of measures to unite the European and Moslem communities in Algeria.

Far From Clear
The situation in Algeria remained far from clear.

The newspaper Le Monde asked just as it was running Algeria. It said its edition in Algeria was seized Friday even while De Gaulle was on the spot. The paper said censorship in the territory is still exercised by a committee of public safety, Salan's own office, and the local police forces.

Algeria radio remained under the control of the men installed by committee of public safety.

But he said the Senate is certain to make basic changes in Eisenhower's program to extend the reciprocal trade program for five years.

"The term of the extension certainly will be limited," he said. "A half dozen approaches also are under study which would provide more protection from import competition than the President originally suggested."

As senior GOP members of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Bridges said he believes it is likely that the actual funds provided for foreign aid will be short of the $3,712,900 ceiling put on next year's program by the Senate in an authorization bill which has passed both houses and is awaiting compromise efforts.

States Are Slow In Accepting New Jobless Pay Plan

The federal law, signed by President Eisenhower Wednesday, takes effect June 19 and expires next April 1. States may take advantage of it or not, as they choose.

In participating states, insured workers who have exhausted their benefits through prolonged unemployment will have the duration of payments extended 50 per cent. In states now paying benefits for 30 weeks, for example, the extension thus will be for another 10 weeks.

trade programs. He called for "a reasonable attitude" on antitrust measures, reiterating his opposition to general tax cuts and any large scale public works program.

Bridges said somewhat improved economic conditions indicate to him that there will be no massive public works spending bills enacted in this session.

But he said the Senate is certain to make basic changes in Eisenhower's program to extend the reciprocal trade program for five years.

MALENKOV STILL RUNNING HYDROELECTRIC PLANT

VIENNA (AP)—Georgi Malenkov, the purged former Soviet premier, is still running a hydroelectric plant at UST Kamengorsk in remote central Asia, his boss said Saturday.

A. S. Pavlenko, the Soviet Union's minister for power stations, was asked the whereabouts of his former chief at a news conference at the end of an 11-day inspection of Austrian power plants.

Malenkov is director of a hydroelectric works at UST Kamengorsk in Kazakhstan Province. "was Pavlenko's terse reply. That disposed of the subject.

The visit Pavlenko made here was on an invitation originally extended to Malenkov, when the latter was minister for power stations after his ouster as premier. Malenkov accepted the invitation but was excused from Moscow last July before he could come.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—It took Robert Henry Cerv a long time to get around to it, but at 32 the burly son of a Nebraska truck driver evidently decided that he had better get a piece of the more important baseball money.

Big Bob Cerv's booming bat has been one of the more pleasant surprises of the spring, is the principal reason why the Athletics are some 30 lengths better than they were last trip.

Cerv has had more early foot that any of the major league home run manufacturers, possesses a long lead in the American League in runs batted in.

Throughout three years with the Yankees and as many more switching between the Yankees and the Kansas City American Association farm, Cerv generally was pictured as a lumbering outfielder hardly compensated for his outfielding and throwing.

But it might be said that Kansas City's Municipal Stadium practically was reconstructed for Cerv, the left and left-center batter being a bit shorter than it was during his Triple A days.

And somewhat to your surprise you find the Yankees and American League managers who know him best saying that Cerv, the solid hitter, has a real chance to keep right on rolling.

Cerv, currently on a liquid diet, broken jaw wired together, can't see that he is doing anything differently.

"But he's pulling the ball better and took off 15 pounds," testifies Hank Bauer of the Yankees. "He can play left field in the Kansas City park well enough and it's tailor-made for his hitting—365 feet to right center. He's anything but a butcher in the outfield and his arm is considerably more than adequate."

"We had to give the Athletics something for what we got from them," says Casey Stengel. "Cerv hits the fast ball, the curve and the change. He is pretty fast for a guy weighing 220 pounds. His principal trouble in New York was that he could not play left, the most difficult field at Yankee Stadium. Gene Woodling is the only one who played it right in my 10 years here. It's still a headache with us."

General Manager George Weiss of the Bombers frankly says that Cerv was rather over-looked in New York because of Manager Stengel's platooning.

"One thing that kept Cerv with us for a couple of years was his hard hitting type of play," he explains. "He is a lot of man going into a base intent on breaking up a double play."

Cerv lined the ball into the left field bleachers at the Stadium to spoil a shutout for Bob Turley, beat the no-windup right-hander with a three-run four-master in KC.

Cerv wasn't given too much opportunity in the Bronx. In '56, he banged up his right knee running into the wall in Detroit in early August. Last season with KC, he was sorely handicapped by the ankle on the same leg.

Cerv, a Czech, was signed by Scout Joe McDermott smack dab out of the University of Nebraska, where he did not get his degree until he was 24. He did not play in a class below Triple A. With the Cornhuskers his basketball ability screened his baseball talent.

Cerv, father of six, expects a seventh child in August. "Got to hit," he says, "and will."

"If it ever comes to a stage where the A's don't want Cerv, which it won't," says Al Lopez, "the White Sox will be pleased to take him off their hands. He's the kind of hitter we need. He'd come close to winning the pennant for us."

Bob Cerv broke his jaw three weeks ago in a collision at the plate with Red Wilson of the Tigers. It will be wired until around June 17.

"Being on the liquid diet, I get tired," he explains. "Just wait till I get my strength back."

Experts Say Ben Hogan The Man To Beat For U.S. Open Golf Title

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The U. S. Open Golf Championship goes up for grabs at Southern Hills next week and the experts say the man who beats Ben Hogan can have it.

Hogan, now 45 and clinging to fading golf glory, has a burning desire to become the first man ever to win the Open five times. He was bitterly disappointed last year when a suddenly lame back kept him from even starting in the championship.

Many knowledgeable golfers think this is Ben's year to make it five—even though he has virtually retired from competition and admits that his golf, particularly the putting, isn't what it used to be. He has devoted months of tailoring his game to fit the Southern-Hills course and has visited it several times for practice.

If Hogan isn't the man to beat, it may be Sam Snead, a great golfer who never has won the Open and who sees his chance fading a bit more each year. Snead's booming shots are well suited to the 6,967-yard, par 70 Southern Hills course if he can make his putter behave.

Dissenting experts can point to almost any one of two or three dozen tested golfers who have shown they have the ability to win. The 162 who will go to the first tee on Thursday are the survivors of a record entry of 2,150. The qualifiers had to be very good even to get into the tournament.

Robert de Vincenzo of Mexico also was among the 10 low scorers last year and is back for another shot. From South Africa comes young Gary Player, who has been successful on the U.S. pro tour. Australia's entry is another youngster, Bruce Crampton.

Right-hander Sam Jones took the major league strikeout lead at 65 by fanning 12 Phils, a one-game high for the NL season. He allowed seven hits, lost his shutout in the seventh when singles by Chico Fernandez and Solly Hemus followed his lone walk.

Right-hander Dick Drott won third with a four-hitter for the Cubs as the Pirates lost their fourth in a row. He blanked the Bucs on two hits after a first-inning run. Vern Law lost it for a 5-4 record.

If there's something wrong with Mickey Mantle's swing, he ought to patent it. He's had only eight hits in his last six games—but six of them have been home runs.

The Mick picked a pair Friday night, driving in the first four runs as the New York Yankees defeated the Cleveland Indians 6-5. It was a no-run, bases-loaded single by Bill Skowron that got the job done in the seventh. However, as Bob Turley became the first to win nine in the majors.

Second place Kansas City skidded 8½ games behind the Yankees.

By The Associated Press
Pitching—Milt Pappas, Orioles, gave up only four hits, fanned three, didn't walk a man and had a one-hit shutout six innings while gaining first major league complete game in nightcap of 2-1, 3-1 sweep over the Athletics.

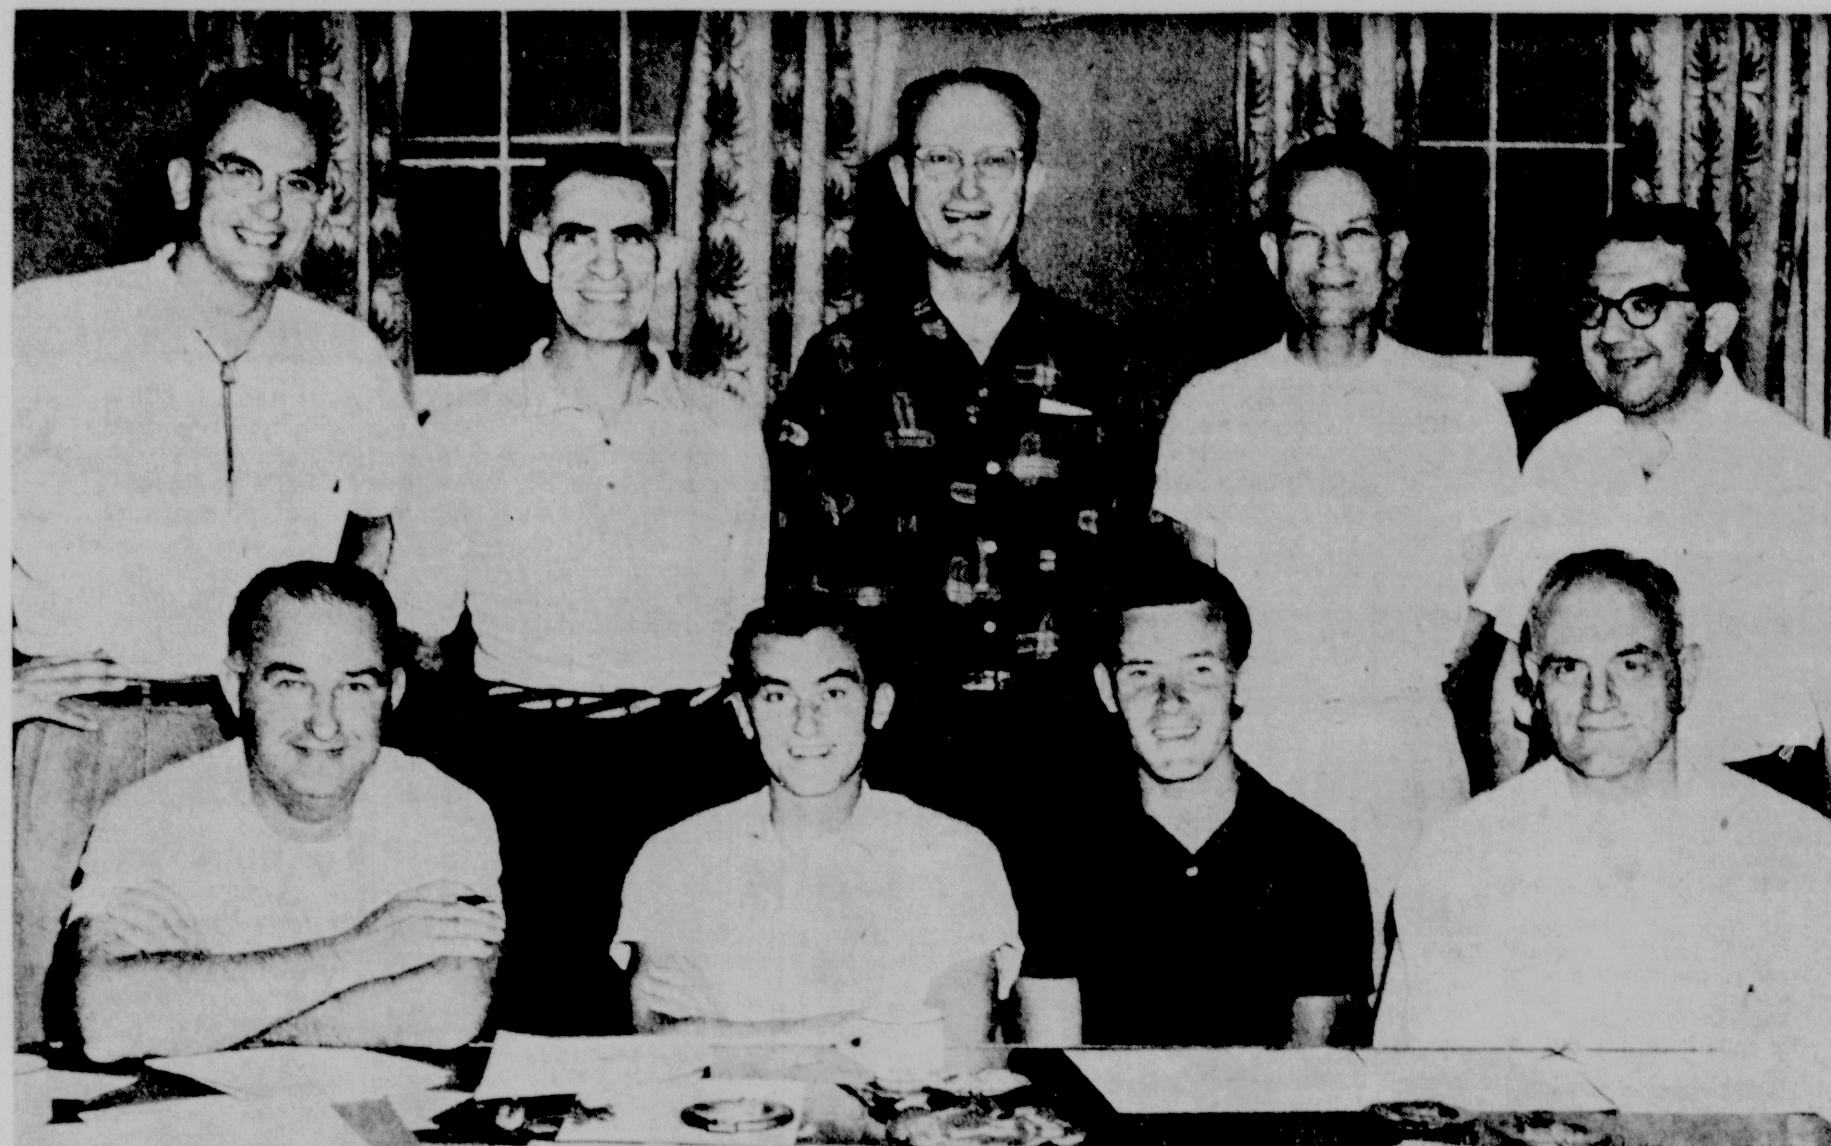

Hitting — Mickey Mantle, Yankees, drove in first four runs with two homers, his ninth and 10th of year for a total of six in six games, and also singled for 3-for-3 performance in 6-5 victory over the Indians.

Carr drove the Green on the 360-yard 36th and then sank a 75-foot putt for his eagle two on the par 4 hole. They halved the next four holes.

McMillon INKS PACT
DETROIT (AP)— Rookie Shelle McMillon of Bradley Saturday became the first player to sign a 1958-59 contract with the Detroit Pistons.

The 6-foot-5½ McMillon was the club's sixth-round draft choice. He led Bradley in scoring last season with 445 points and a 16.4 average. He also was the club's leading rebounder.

SERVICE LEAGUE MANAGERS MAKE SELECTIONS — The YMCA's newly-formed Service League, which gives last year's graduating Colt League members another year of eligibility, staged its player auction Friday night at the 'Y'.

The new league will serve as a farm club for the American Legion team in addition to creating a summer baseball program for the older youths. Players from the Service League will be picked as an All-Star unit to perform for manager Dale Smith's Legion nine throughout the summer.

Several members of the League Committee were on hand to conduct the bids and they are, Warren Flower, John Chapman, Ray Shanley, Wilfrid E. Rice and Doctor Louis Belinson, pictured standing from left to right. Belinson will also serve as player agent for the league. Rex Henly and Al Miller, two committee members, are absent from the group.

All Players of the Service League are asked to report to their managers Monday evening at Nichols Ball Park at 6:30 p.m. promptly. The 1956 Service League rosters are as follows.

An Irish-Bred Cavan Halts Tim Tam's Bid In The Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (AP)—Cavan achieved one of racing's greatest upsets Saturday by easily winning the $114,600—Belmont Stakes as Tim Tam—Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner—pulled up lame after a vain effort to become the ninth colt in history to win the triple crown.

It was the second straight year that a foreign-bred horse whipped the American horses in the rugged mile and one-half classic for three-year-olds. Gallant Man, foaled in England but raised in Ireland where Cavan was born, won the Belmont a year ago.

Cavan, owned by Joseph E. O'Connell of Boston, took charge rounding the bend leading into the homestretch. Then he drew off to beat Tim Tam by six lengths.

Tim Tam, a prohibitive 3-20 favorite of a crowd of 44,025 to give Calumet Farm's third Belmont triple crown, tried valiantly but could do no better than second place. It was another 5½ lengths back to C. V. Whitney's Flamingo, who took third money by three-quarters of a length over the Wheatley stable's Nasco.

The crowd, biggest Belmont gathering since 52,668 turned out to watch Phalaris win in 1947, roared as Cavan and Timmy battled into the final turn. Then many of the shouts turned to groans when it was evident Tim Tam was through an eighth of a mile from the finish.

Ismael Valenzuela, who won the Derby and Preakness aboard the colt, whipped his mount. Tim Tam swerved slightly but everyone knew he wasn't going to make the winner's circle this time. He went on down to the first turn where Valenzuela dismounted and removed the saddle. The colt limped from the track without returning to the regular unsaddling area in front of the winner's circle.

Five weeks ago Tim Tam collected Kentucky roses at Churchill Downs. Three weeks ago Maryland black-eyed susans were draped over Tim Tam at Pimlico. But the white carnations which blankets a Belmont winner went to an Irish galloper who only last week romped off with the Peter Pan Handicap here and set up his remarkable Belmont knockout.

Pete Aderson, 27-year-old native of Southampton, N.Y., rode Cavan. As the second choice, Cavan paid $11.80, $2.40 and $2.10. Tim Tam, who was seeking his ninth straight victory, returned $2.10 and $2.10. Flamingo also was $2.10 to show.

Cavan, a chestnut son of Mossborough-Willow Ann by Solario, was clocked in 2:30 1-5 on a fast track.

Hebert gives Nation's Golfers A Hard Target

TULSA (AP)—National PGA Champion Lionel Hebert shot a one-over par 71 at the Southern Hills Country Club course Saturday to set the scoring pattern for the nation's golfers on National Golf Day.

The sturdy Lafayette La. shot-maker beat National Open champion Dick Mayer by five shots over the course where the 58th Open Championship of the United States Golf Assn. will be played starting next Thursday.

National Golf Day is sponsored by the Professional Golfers Assn. and players throughout the land contribute $1 to play, matching their scores based on handicaps against Hebert's score. The money goes to various charities and the caddy scholarship program sponsored by the PGA. Those who beat Hebert get medals.

In the past, the National Open champion played with the women's national champion but the system was revised this year to provide a more competitive test.

Hebert's score over the 6,907-yard rolling, tree-dotted layout with its par of 35-35-70 was considered a good effort because the PGA champ was taking only his second crack at the course.

Mayer encountered difficulty on the front nine and soared to a 41 but steeled his game to shoot par coming in.

Hebert was out in 36 one over, and matched standard figures on the back, finishing strongly with birdies on the 16th and 17th holes after Mayer had narrowed his lead to 2 after 15 holes. Hebert also parred the tough 468-yard 18th with a four to pick up another stroke as Mayer missed the green with his second shot.

Hebert gave a gallery of almost 1,000 a thrill on the first hole as he drilled in a birdie three with a 6-foot putt while Mayer struggled out of a trap to get a bogie. This gave the Louisiana a lead he never relinquished.

He rolled in a 15-foot putt for another birdie on the par three 177-yard sixth hole after a double bogey six on the second hole ruined his chances to beat par on the outgoing nine.

Senators Gain 43 Win From Tigers On Single

WASHINGTON (AP)—Herb Pless bases-loaded single in the last half of the ninth inning Saturday scored Rocky Bridges and gave the Washington Senators a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The victory lifted the Senators out of the American League cellar and into fourth place.

Washington was outlit, 12-7, and had been held hitless for five straight innings by Detroit relievers Tom Morgan and Herb Moford before they broke loose in the ninth.

Bridges greeted Moford in the ninth with a single. Then, after Ken Aspromonte sacrificed, Julie Bequer was walked purposely to set up a double-play situation.

Moford made two wide pitches to pinchhitter Neil Chrissy and Vito Valentini was summoned from the Detroit bullpen. Valentini completed the walk to Chrissy, filling the bases.

Pless then sent a long drive to left on the first pitch and it fell safely ending the game.

Yogi Provides Batting Power, Yanks Win, 6-3

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra provided the power Saturday as the runaway New York Yankees blasted Cleveland for the fourth straight time. The score was 6-3.

The squat Yankee catcher drove in four runs, three of them with a tie-breaking home run in the sixth inning. That was all the league leaders and Whitey Ford needed.

The lefthanded pitcher was reached for 10 hits but he went all the way for his sixth straight victory and his seventh of the season. He has lost two.

Lefty Don Mossi (4-5) was the victim of Yogi's game-winning blow. The score was 2-all when the Yanks broke loose for four runs in the sixth.

Friday's Baseball

Holy smoke! Lookit Willie! There's just ONE "Willie" in the majors—the San Francisco Giants' amazing Willie Mays, who has whipped into the lead in the National League bat race at .443 with a .648 average in his last four games.

Nobody's been able to get Willie out in his last eight at-bats. He ran his consecutive hit streak to seven Friday night with his 14th home run and a pair of singles that just missed getting the job done for the Giants.

One big inning gave Cincinnati a 5-4 victory over San Francisco, but the Giants stayed within .008 percentage points of first place Milwaukee, beaten 4-3 at Los Angeles.

Don Zimmer's leadoff home run in the ninth—the first ever off Milwaukee relief ace Don McMahon in the majors—gave it to the Dodgers, whose last place pitching staff cooled off the Braves' hot homer streak. In the Coliseum yet.

Mays took the bat lead from Stan, now 420, who was 0-for-2 as his St. Louis Cardinals won their fourth in a row with a 3-1 decision over Philadelphia. The Chicago Cubs beat Pittsburgh 6-1.

In the American League, Mickey Mantle cracked a pair of home runs as the New York Yankees beat Cleveland 6-5 and took an 8½ game lead. Baltimore beat second place Kansas City twice, 2-1 and 3-1. Detroit belted Washington 11-2 and Boston defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-2.

The Giants took their fourth defeat in six games, all by one run, as the Reds socked Ray Monzant for his fourth loss in a five-run sixth. A single and two walks loaded the bases with two out. Don Hoak's single brought two runs home and Jerry Lynch then clinched it with a three-run homer, his fourth.

The Dodgers twice hustled from behind to tie the score against the Braves' starter, Bob Rush and Clem Labine won his second, pitching only the ninth after following starter Don Drysdale and Johnny Podres.

Right-hander Sam Jones took the major league strikeout lead at 65 by fanning 12 Phils, a one-game high for the NL season. He allowed seven hits, lost his shutout in the seventh when singles by Chico Fernandez and Solly Hemus followed his lone walk.

Right-hander Dick Drott won third with a four-hitter for the Cubs as the Pirates lost their fourth in a row. He blanked the Bucs on two hits after a first-inning run. Vern Law lost it for a 5-4 record.

Second place Kansas City skidded 8½ games behind the Yankees.

in a 2-1 and 3-1 two-night loss at Baltimore. Boston defeated Chicago 3-2 and Detroit belted Washington 11-2.

Mantle, who had hit only four home runs in his first 37 games, now has 10 for the year. The pair off losing southpaw Dick Tomaneck gave him a two-in-one-game performance for the first time since last June 12. He also singled in a perfect 3-for-3 show, raising his average to .302, and was walked intentionally to load the bases ahead of Skowron's clincher.

Connie Johnson won his second for the Orioles in the opener, while in the nightcap, Milt Pappas, a 19-year-old right-hander hampered by arm trouble recently, gained his second victory and first major league complete game with a four-hitter. He had a one-hit shutout for six. Ray Herbert was the loser.

Lou Berberet singled home a run in the sixth for the Red Sox, then set up the clincher with a triple ahead of Marty Keough's pinch-hit sacrifice fly in a two-run eighth, Chicago reliever Jerry Staley lost his fourth. Ike Delock won his second in relief.

Billy Hoelt, who hadn't beaten Washington since 1956, gained a 4-3 record with a four-hitter after losing four straight, Ovie Virgil, Detroit's first Negro, made his AL debut with a double in five trips and an errorless game at third base. Hal Griggs was the loser.

Round Table Gets Back On Winning Trail

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Millionaire Round Table, carrying 132 pounds for the first time in his career, got back on the winning track Saturday with a close but well-earned victory in the $35,500 Aronout Handicap.

Charming, a crowd of 47,500, which made the 4-year-old bay an odds-on-favorite, Round Table up in the stretch to beat out the pace-setting How Now by a head or more.

Seaneen, the Irish 4-year-old, was third in the field of six starters. The well-regarded Terrang was fourth.

The time for the mile was 1:34 3-5.

Round Table paid $3.40, $2.50 and $2.20; How Now paid $3.30 and $2.50; and Seaneen $2.70.

McMullin Holds 3-Stroke Margin In Dallas Open

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Lean John McMullin rallied on the back nine when the pressure was the strongest Saturday and swept in with a 1-under-par 69 for 198 and a 3-stroke lead in the $25,000 Dallas Open.

McMullin, the tall young man from Fair Oaks, Calif., appeared to be bowing to the tenacity of the situation as he shot the first seven holes of the third round three over par. But he birdied 8, 9 and 10, added another birdie on 17, then laid up for a conceded par putt on 18.

The crowd thought McMullin, making his first tour and after his first high place in a tournament, might crack in this round, which he, himself called the most crucial of them all, but he didn't.

In fact, it was the pursuers who wilted. Tommy Bolt of Paradise, Fla., who started Saturday's third round with 130 to McMullin's 129, had a 1-over-par 71. He stayed in second place at 201.

Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa, who was third with 132, shot a 72.

Tied for third place as the tournament goes into its final round Sunday will be Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Earl Stewart Jr. of Dallas, Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa. Mike Souchak of Grossingers, N. Y., and Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., all with 203.

The round Saturday was played under lowering skies and the scores generally were the highest of the tournament over the 6,469-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course.

Kansas Discus Thrower Sets New Loop Mark

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Big Al Oertger of the University of Kansas smashed the Central Collegiate Conference meet discus record Saturday with a satin-smooth throw of 188 feet 2 inches.

The seemingly effortless heave gave the 6 foot 3, 232 pound Oertger a grand slam this season. He previously won the discus events in the Texas, Kansas and Drake relays, as well as record tosses.

In the only other afternoon final, Mike Morando of Notre Dame took the javelin throw with a distance of 224 feet 10 1/2 inches.

Defending champion Kansas led with nine qualifications. Followed by Indiana with six, Iowa with 4 and Western Michigan, Ohio University of Athens and Notre Dame with three each.

Akins Can't Get Enough Ringside Duty

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Virgil Akins just couldn't get enough of that arena ring Friday night. After he had won the world welterweight title by knocking out Vince Martinez, he came back to second his heavyweight stablemate, LeRoy Malcolm of St. Louis.

When he climbed into the ring, with a little patch at the side of his right eye, a ringsider yelled: "Hey Virge, what did ya do, hit yourself?"

Akins proved to be a better fighter than second. Malcolm lost a decision to Joe Hemphill of Chicago in four rounds.

MOST NOMINATED MAN

Norman Thomas, nominated six times by the Socialist party from 1928 to 1948, has been nominated for the presidency more times than any other man.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Virgil Akins, the new king of the welters, clamors for Carmen Basilio but Carmen pines for revenge and a potful of cash in a third match with Ray Robinson.

Akins, a hometown success at the age of 30, engraved Basilio in his future plans after erasing Vince Martinez with ease Friday night for the welterweight crown.

Eddie Yawitz, Akins' co-manager, said St. Louis or Syracuse, N. Y., Basilio's stamping grounds, would be logical for a title fight. That's if Basilio is interested in dropping down to the welters again and trying to reclaim the crown he gave up last September in winning the middleweight title from Robinson. In their second bout Robinson reclaimed the crown.

"Bring on Basilio," Yawitz hummed after Akins destroyed Martinez, the 29-year-old Paterson, N. J., boxer who had never been topped before.

Basilio has the match at the St. Louis arena. He said it only proved to him that Akins beat Martinez. As to whether he would be willing to meet Akins, Carmen just shrugged his shoulders and said he was more interested in Robinson.

Akins, who recently picked up a purse for only $52, made $13,000 Friday night. Two days before the fight he predicted that Martinez would last half as long as Isaac Logart did when Akins fought him in the welterweight elimination.

Logart was stopped late in the sixth round and Martinez was through on a technical knockout at 52 seconds of the fourth round.

A crowd of 9,777 paid $62,810 and saw Akins crack over a right hand to the jaw in the opening seconds of the first round after Vince carelessly left himself open. That one punch ruined Vince, who eventually was decked seven times—the last time like a pack of badly shuffled cards.

Because of his inconsistency, Virgil never had been a big favorite with the fans although he can be a shifty, aggressive fighter when he is "on." Too many "off" nights almost ruined his career.

Akins' record is an unenviable 48-17-1 in a career marked by erratic performances. Charley Baxxy stopped him in three rounds in his second pro fight, April 5, 1958, and Phil Kim stopped him in 10 rounds at Chicago, Aug. 29, 1953. Many of his 17 defeats have been blamed on tender hands and eyes. Over one stretch from 1952 to 1954 he dropped four in a row to Johnny Skatton, Joe Miceli, Johnny Gonsalves, and Kim.

Lane Breaks Own Rule, He Denies Press Statement

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Lane, the oft-quoted general manager of the Cleveland Indians, broke one of his rules Saturday. He denied a statement attributed to him by the press.

Lane said he never advocated trimming of major league rosters from 40 players before cutdown time to a maximum of 25. Nor did he propose that the rule whereby a club may option 15 players to the minors be stricken from the books.

"I have rarely denied a story attributed to me, whether it was true or false," he said. "But in this case my remarks have been so badly misinterpreted that I've got to clear up the picture."

"What I have suggested is simply this... that a big league club be forbidden to option to the minors any player with four years of service in organized baseball."

"Any player who has had four years of minor league experience should be made subject to waivers before he can be sent down from the majors."

Lane's comments were in reply to a statement by Yankee general manager George Weiss.

Weiss took exception to a story quoting Lane that the Yankees are ruining business in the league and that all clubs should be limited to the 25 players on their active roster without being able to option 15 more for development in the minors.

FRIDAY NIGHT WINNER — Jerry Blundy (right) easily won the feature race Friday night at the Morgan County Fairgrounds Speedway before another fine turnout. Starter Bob Pollack of Macomb awarded Blundy the checkered flag following the Friday night program.

Seventeen 'eager beavers' in their 'junkers' provided the highlight races of the evening. Twelve of the drivers were local boys and the fans were treated to some daring driving when several of the cars overturned and one driver seemed to have firecrackers in his radiator. Thank goodness, no one was injured.

Algerian Junta Agrees To Work With Gen. Salan

ALGIERS (AP)—The Algerian revolutionary junta Saturday put itself without condition or reservation under the authority of Gen. Raoul Salan. He is the man named by Premier de Gaulle to be civilian and military boss of Algeria.

A spokesman for the Algerian Committee of Public Safety said the network of committees throughout Algeria now will work for the integration of souls as decreed by De Gaulle.

The committee met under para-troop Gen. Jacques Massu to draw up its new plan of action in line with De Gaulle's orders.

The committee's unqualified expression of support came as Frenchmen and Moslems began a great reappraisal of Algeria's future, now apparently locked in the firm hands of De Gaulle.

Massu, a key figure in the insurgent move of May 13, canceled another huge demonstration scheduled for Saturday night in the now-famed forum in front of the government building.

"The days of the forum are over," Massu declared. "This is a period of work."

The committee appointed a number of subcommittees to work for the integration of Algeria's Moslem and European population. A spokesman said army officers will continue their function on the committees "but will not do any political work."

De Gaulle said on his visit to Algeria this week he wanted the committees of public safety to stay out of politics and administration.

For the first time since the Algerian question began to dominate the French republic, it is Paris and not Algiers that is calling the tune.

Rip's Home Run Gets Phils Off To Easy 15-6 Win Over Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A former St. Louis Cardinal, Rip Repulski, came back to torment the Red Birds by driving in five runs in a free-swinging 15-6 Philadelphia Philie defeat of the Cards Saturday.

The Phils teed off on five Cardinal pitchers for 17 hits and the Red Bird hurlers gave up 13 walks. The defeat ended a four-game Cardinal winning streak.

The loss was given to Lindy McDaniel, who lasted less than one inning. The winner, Curt Simmons, now is 5-4. For McDaniel, it meant a fifth loss while winning three.

Maine Of Des Plaines Keeps State Baseball Title In Chicago Area

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Maine of Des Plaines is the 1958 state high school baseball champion, keeping the pennant in the Chicago area for the sixth time in the last seven years.

Maine won the title Friday, defeating Niles of Skokie 3-2 in an extra inning game.

Lefty Bob Gruber held Niles to 5 hits, struck out 4 batters and walked 3 in giving Maine a season record of 21-3. Gruber's mark is 12-0.

Niles' first inning 1-0 lead was knotted in the fifth by Maine. Niles again went ahead, 2-1, in the top of the extra eighth inning. But Maine came back to score two runs.

Vic Pagel singled home Bob Kupczak, who had singled, with the tying run. Sophomore Bill Wagner singled in Pagel with the clincher.

Niles advanced to the finals with an afternoon 4-3 triumph over Danville in 12 innings. It was Danville's first loss in 24 starts.

Niles' winning run came when Ron Lis stole home. He had singled, stole second and advanced to third on an infield out. The successful third shattered pitcher Steve Kelly's bid for a perfect season. The lefty absorbed his first defeat in 13 games.

Maine moved into the finals with a 13-1 crushing of Olney. Maine scored four times in the sixth, ending the game at that point under a rule which terminates play when a 10-run spread develops.

Kelly, first baseman Bill Thine of Niles and third baseman Pagel were unanimous choices on the all star team selected by news, radio and television men covering the tournament.

Governor Proclaims 'Miss Illinois Day' For Next Saturday

Governor William G. Stratton yesterday proclaimed Saturday, June 14, as Miss Illinois Day, when 27 finalists in the Miss Illinois contest compete for the title in Jacksonville.

An official proclamation bearing the gold seal of the State of Illinois was received here yesterday by Bob Blazier, chairman of the Miss Illinois pageant committee of the Jacksonville Jaycees. Governor Stratton signed the document at his offices in Springfield.

Governor Stratton in the proclamation called attention "that it is annually the custom to choose in the United States a 'Miss America' on the basis of talent, charm, and beauty, and providing a scholarship for the furtherance of education of the young women selected."

"In preparation for the contest, a Miss Illinois Pageant will be held to select Miss Illinois to represent our state in the event," he continued. "I do proclaim June 14 of the present year as Miss Illinois Day throughout Illinois, to call attention to this day dedicated to choose 'Miss Illinois' from among the daughters of Illinois."

Scott Executive Board Plans Annual Budget For Tuberculosis Assn.

WINCHESTER—The first meeting of the new executive board of the Scott County Tuberculosis Association was held Thursday afternoon at the Hotel Winchester with the new president, Mrs. Ralph Young, in charge. Harry Singer, area supervisor of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association, met with the board, to assist in making plans for the year, and drawing up the budget.

The estimated budget for the year ending March 31, 1959, is $1,545 and the estimated income from the annual seal sale is $1,726.66. There is a reserve fund, two government bonds of about $1,500 which is the reserve recommended by the State. Mr. Singer stated that all county associations are urged to send three sheets of seals, and fewer than 20 counties in the state send only two sheets.

However, members voted not to send additional sheets this year with the idea that it could be considered for next year. Local associations receive their money from individuals and the association feels it is only doing its job in education and prevention of tuberculosis when the full amount is spent, leaving the reserve for a possible poor return some year.

The budget includes $210 for meetings and conferences, scholarships, educational materials in the schools and to individuals; $450 for case finding, clinic work, tuberculosis testing, chest X-rays; $300 for research grant to the National Research Fund; $25 for administration and office expenses; $250 for the salary of the seal sale secretary; $125 for seal sale supplies; $50 for postage of seals; $15 for meetings; $120 for poster and essay contest prizes.

Plans were discussed for informing the public as to the need to vote this fall to extend the Glackin Law, which is an act of the Illinois Legislature providing for the care and treatment by counties of persons afflicted with tuberculosis and providing the means for this care. The Law was passed in Scott County in 1943 for 15 years so it is necessary to vote on it this year if tuberculosis patients are to receive this care.

The State now has a provision that the law, when passed in the counties will continue indefinitely unless there is no longer the need for it and then the voters can discontinue it. It is a tax which has been in effect in Scott County for many years, is not a new or an additional tax, and is levied by the County Commissioners for the use of the local sanitation board, so that they can provide funds for hospital care of such patients. A committee was named to work on this so that the voters will be given the facts, and the cooperation of the sanitation board will be asked.

Members of the executive board who attended were Mrs. Young, Mrs. Maurice Pugh, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Henry Corrie, past president; Mrs. C. L. McLaughlin, Mrs. Ray Cherry, Mrs. Merle Hewell, Mrs. Leo Willard, Mrs. Everett Hester, and Mrs. Rowe Leiby, the latter three being new members. Mrs. Allan Watt is a member of the State Board.

Memorial services for deceased members of the Rebekah and Odd Fellow Lodges were held Friday evening following the regular business meeting. The only member deceased this year was T. C. Moore. Mrs. William McLaughlin was chairman of the program committee.

Funeral Monday For Melvin Liles Of Carrollton

CARROLLTON—Funeral services for Melvin Liles, 51 year old Carrollton man who died Friday evening at Oaklawn sanatorium in Jacksonville, will be held at 3 p.m. Monday at the Simpson funeral home here. Rev. Glenn Manis will officiate and burial will be made in Providence cemetery.

Mr. Liles was born Aug. 12, 1907 in Greene county, the son of Franklin and Emma M. Holmes Liles. He was married to Fannie Kelly who survives with one son, Melvin of Jerseyville. There are four grandchildren. A brother, Robert of Jerseyville and two sisters, Mrs. Clyde Winters of White Hall and Mrs. Vincent Griffiths of Berdan, also survive.

The deceased was a farmer for a number of years and later was employed by Fred Linker in the plumbing business. He had been in poor health the past year.

Rites Today At Alsey Church For Joseph A. Mikus

WINCHESTER—Funeral services for Joseph A. Mikus, Alsey resident who died Friday morning at Passavant hospital in Jacksonville where he was taken after suffering a heart attack at Winchester, will be held at 2:30 today at the Alsey Baptist church.

The Rev. H. L. Janvin of Roodhouse will officiate and burial will be made in the Glasgow cemetery. Mr. Mikus had gone to his work at a construction location on West Cherry street in Winchester when he was struck. The Cunningham ambulance from here took the stricken man to the hospital. His death followed three hours later at the hospital in Jacksonville.

Mr. Mikus was born Nov. 21, 1901, at Golden Eagle, Ill., son of the late Theodore and Mary Keim Mikus. He was united in marriage with Madeline Haney at Venice, Ill., Jan. 16, 1922.

Surviving are his wife and three daughters, Mrs. Virginia Henderson, Barry; Mrs. Margaret Stone, Florissant, Mo., and St. Francis Solanus, now Quincy College, in Quincy, completing his studies for the priesthood at Mt. St. Mary's Seminary of the West at Cincinnati. He did post-graduate work at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., receiving his S.T.L. degree, and he also studied at the Sorbonne in Paris, France.

His first assignment as a priest was as assistant pastor at St. Anthony's Church, Effingham, in 1898. In 1901, he became assistant pastor at the Church of Our Saviour, and in March 1916, on the death of the pastor, Rev. John W. Crowe, he was named pastor by Bishop Ryan of Alton, which was at that time the See City.

Ordnained At Cincinnati
Msr. Formaz was ordained to the priesthood by Archbishop William H. Elder at Cincinnati, Ohio, on June 17, 1898. He attended St. Francis Xavier grade school and St. Louis University High School in St. Louis, Mo., and St. Francis Solanus, now Quincy College, in Quincy, completing his studies for the priesthood at Mt. St. Mary's Seminary of the West at Cincinnati.

Monsignor In 1954
For a number of years, he was dean of the Jacksonville Diocese, an administrative office involving the priests of eight counties in the diocese of Springfield and on April 8, 1954, he was elevated by Pope Pius XII to the rank of Domestic Prelate, with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor.

Msr. Formaz has been a patient at Our Saviour's Hospital for some time but hopes to be able to be present at the Mass of Thanksgiving and at the banquet for visiting members of the clergy to be held at the St. Mary's Hospital on the day of the celebration.

Robert A. Miller, 39, Dies Of Heart Attack
Robert A. Miller, organization director of the Morgan County Farm Bureau and editor of its monthly periodical, "The Morgan County Farmer," died suddenly early Saturday morning after suffering a heart attack at his home, 432 S. East street.

He expanded and improved the monthly periodical. In Chicago last November the publication was cited as one of the best in America.

Survivors include his wife and four children: a brother, T. R. Miller of Cookeville, Ill., and a half-sister, Mrs. Margaret Fox of Springfield and his stepmother, Mrs. Maymie Miller of Quincy. The brother teaches agriculture at Colfax High School and was camping in northern Michigan with his students.

The body is at the Williamson Funeral Home where the family will meet friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Monday at the Grace Methodist church, with Dr. Frank Marston and Rev. Harold D. Simmons of Mt. Sterling officiating. The body will be taken to the church one hour before the service.

Burial will be in the Mt. Sterling cemetery, where Masonic Services will be conducted at 4:15 p.m. Monday by the Mt. Sterling Masonic Lodge.

Funeral Services For Mrs. O'Daffer
Funeral services for Mrs. Lou O'Daffer were held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Williamson Funeral Home, with Major Henri Servais in charge of the services.

Rev. William J. Boston, accompanied at the organ by Robert Wegehoff.

Members of the Home League attended the services in a group and acted as an honor guard.

Assisting with the flowers were Mrs. Hortense Servais, Mrs. Rose Hembrough, Miss Florence Sear, and Mrs. Edith Daniels.

Palbearers were Ronald Geer, Bud Stephenson, Roy Gaines, Earl Lyons, Bill Lyons and Fred O'Daffer.

Interment was in Memorial Lawn cemetery.

Diamond Jubilee June 16

RT. REV. MSGR. F. F. FORMAZ

Right Reverend Monsignor Francis F. Formaz, pastor of the Church of Our Saviour in this city, will observe his Diamond Jubilee in the priesthood with a Pontifical Mass of Thanksgiving at the church at 10:30 a.m. Monday, June 16.

His Excellency, The Most Reverend William A. O'Connor, Bishop of Springfield, will officiate at the Mass, which will celebrate 60 years in the priesthood. Although the diamond jubilee is usually thought of as a 75-year anniversary, clergy and religious designate the 60th as the diamond, since a priest is usually ordained at the age of 25 or more and would have to be a centenarian to celebrate a diamond jubilee of 75 years.

He attended St. Francis Xavier grade school and St. Louis University High School in St. Louis, Mo., and St. Francis Solanus, now Quincy College, in Quincy, completing his studies for the priesthood at Mt. St. Mary's Seminary of the West at Cincinnati.

He did post-graduate work at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., receiving his S.T.L. degree, and he also studied at the Sorbonne in Paris, France.

His first assignment as a priest was as assistant pastor at St. Anthony's Church, Effingham, in 1898. In 1901, he became assistant pastor at the Church of Our Saviour, and in March 1916, on the death of the pastor, Rev. John W. Crowe, he was named pastor by Bishop Ryan of Alton, which was at that time the See City.

Monsignor In 1954
For a number of years, he was dean of the Jacksonville Diocese, an administrative office involving the priests of eight counties in the diocese of Springfield and on April 8, 1954, he was elevated by Pope Pius XII to the rank of Domestic Prelate, with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor.

Msr. Formaz has been a patient at Our Saviour's Hospital for some time but hopes to be able to be present at the Mass of Thanksgiving and at the banquet for visiting members of the clergy to be held at the St. Mary's Hospital on the day of the celebration.

Fire Destroys Room At Home In White Hall
WHITE HALL—An estimated $3,000 damage was done Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Keeney on Centennial avenue when a fire broke out in the east end of the house. The fire was discovered around 8 p.m. by a daughter, Genon, 19, who with the aid of neighbors was able to keep the fire under control until the fire department arrived.

A room across the east end of the six room house was destroyed and much of the rest of the house was damaged by smoke. The origin of the fire is not certain but it is believed to have begun in a closet.

Former Timewell Bank President Dies In Brown
MT. STERLING—Charles E. Chapman, 87, president of the Timewell State Bank from 1922 to 1951, died Friday in Mt. Sterling. For the past several years Mr. Chapman, a retired farmer from the Timewell community, has been cared for at the home of Mrs. Dora Givens in Mt. Sterling.

Mr. Chapman was born in Brown county April 23, 1871, the son of John W. and Cynthia Miller Chapman. He was twice married. His first marriage to Laura A. McPhail in 1896 ended tragically when she drowned less than one month after their wedding. In 1902 he was married to Virginia Hopper and she preceded him in death in 1941.

One son survives, Harold Chapman of Denver, Colo., and one grandson. There are two brothers surviving, H. F. Chapman of Mt. Sterling and Ray Chapman of Sacramento, Calif.

The deceased was a member of the Timewell Baptist church. The body was taken to the Roodhouse Funeral Home here.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Standard Time Monday afternoon at the Timewell Baptist church. Burial will be made in the Mount cemetery.

Trustees Applaud Church Union--64 Seniors Graduate

Two major church unions consummated in the past year were applauded by the annual meeting of the board of trustees of Illinois College, Saturday, preceding this historic liberal arts college's 129th commencement exercises this afternoon at 3:30 in the College Grove.

The college, founded in 1829 by the Yale band (Congregational) and a Presbyterian missionary (John M. Ellis) and presently governed by a 25-member roster of distinguished citizens as trustees, congratulated the United Church of Christ and the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and commended "the thoughtful and careful labors invested by the four uniting denominations to thus further evidence, in the visible church, the oneness for which our Lord prayed."

The United Church of Christ was formed last June 25 through union of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches with the Evangelical and Reformed Church, The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. came into being last month through union of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the United Presbyterian Church.

Maintain Church Relationship
Whereas Illinois College, while legally independent, has "in origin and life maintained an intimate relationship to the Congregational Christian Churches and the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., through which it has been richly blessed," stated the trustees resolution, and whereas the college "gladly avows its purpose to be a church-related school," be it resolved the trustees "declare their earnest desire and purpose to continue in the same measure and spirit" with the united bodies, the meeting voted.

Award Honorary Degrees
In the further action today, the college will award honorary doctoral degrees at 3:30 p.m. commencement exercises to Ashby E. Bladen, Glen Ridge, N.J., nationally known business leader and and churchman who is chairman of the executive committee of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches, which nationally represents the denomination; Dr. Bruce Catton, noted historian on the Civil War and editor of American Heritage, New York City, also a Congregational Christian layman; Dr. Charles Henry Rammelkamp, chief of medicine, City Hospital, Cleveland, and Dr. Franklin Daniel Scott, professor of history at Northwestern University, specialist in Scandinavian affairs.

Mr. Bladen, vice-president of the Aetna Insurance Group and president of the New York Board of Trade, also is a trustee of the Annuity Fund for Congregational ministers and has been moderator of his denomination's Middle Atlantic Conference.

Dr. Catton, who will deliver the commencement address today, numbers among his books the three-volume work of the Potomac: Mr. Lincoln's Army, Glory Road, and Stillness At Appomattox, the last receiving the national book award and Pulitzer prize in historical writing for 1957.

Agronomists To Test 1,022 Hybrids In 10 Performance Fields

CORN PERFORMANCE TESTS

University of Illinois Department of Agronomy

University of Illinois agronomists will conduct 1,022 different seed corn tests during 1958 at 10 different fields around the state. The seed was supplied by 56 different growers who will also contribute more than $15,000 to carry out the project.

The test field in this area will be on the farm of Charles Ross, who lives in Macomb county on the Palmyra road northeast of Greenfield. Nearly a hundred hybrids were tested there last year and this season dwarf corn varieties have been added for comparisons.

Earl Leng, corn breeder at this testing program, points out that no seed producer is required to submit his corn for testing. All entries are entirely voluntary.

The results of all tests will be assembled and published as soon after harvest as possible. This report cover yields, moisture percent at harvest, percent of erect plants and stand.

In past years the report has been available in late January or early February. Both farmers and growers have shown high interest in the test results. Nearly 12,000 copies of the 1957 tests were distributed.

Much Interest

This seed test program has expanded steadily in recent years. In 1953 there were test fields at five locations. This year there are 10. The number of participating growers has climbed from 44 to 56. The number of entries being tested has jumped from 378 to 1,022.

Six of the test fields are located on private farms. The co-operating farm operator receives no special payment for use of his land except that the seed is furnished for the tests. He does get the harvested corn after it is weighed and analyzed. The agronomy department staff does the planting by hand.

Soil on the fields is prepared in the normal way. The farm operator does the cultivating. Harvesting of each entry is handled by the agronomists with help from the seedsmen. Each entry that is tested consists of two rows five hills long, repeated three times.

Test fields at DeKalb, Urbana and Brownstown are on University of Illinois experiment fields. At Wolf Lake in extreme southern Illinois, the test field is located on the property of the Shawnee high school, and agronomists at Southern Illinois University assist with the tests.

Yield Reports

Farmers and all those who are interested in seeing the test fields are welcome to visit them when

LIVESTOCK PRICES, LOAN PROGRAM SUPPORT CORN

Recent prices of corn and oats were near those of a year earlier. This price strength is interesting in view of the greater supplies, lower price supports and weaker business situation. Only one grain market factor, prices of livestock and eggs, is stronger than last year.

Excess stocks of feed grains are still increasing. Total carryover at the end of this corn marketing year will be around 62 million tons, one-fourth more than the year before. Probably about one-third of this carryover could be called normal, and two-thirds excess. The excess will be around 40 million tons, or enough to feed all of our hogs for a year.

The corn carryover alone will be around 1,600 million bushels, about 180 million more than last fall. The corn carryover will equal about half an average crop.

More Than Ever
Less corn has been placed under price support this year than last, but the total of all feed grains placed under price support during the year will be a new record high.

Through April 15, 302 million bushels of corn had been put under price support. This was only three-fourths as much as had been placed under loan to the same date a year ago. Of this amount, 120 million bushels were put under the $1.10 support for non-compliance corn. In Illinois, farmers could pay off their loans on such corn and sell at a profit of a few cents a bushel. Most of it, however, is probably in Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota, where market prices are not high enough to cause farmers to redeem it.

A little less than 400 million bushels of corn is expected to be placed under price support this year compared with 477 million last year. The total amount of all feed grains placed under price support this year is estimated at 23 million tons. The amount last year was 17 million tons, and the previous record high was 18 million tons, placed under loan two years ago.

Exports Higher Than Ever
Disappearance of corn during the first half of this marketing year is estimated at 2,025 million bushels, practically the same as a year ago. Less was used in this country, but more was exported. For the rest of the marketing year, domestic use may be a little more than last year, while exports may be less.

The accumulation of sorghum grain is even greater than the accumulation of corn. Where the carryover of corn is expected to increase by around 180 million bushels, the carryover of sorghum grain seems likely to increase by around 220 million bushels. Total carryover of sorghum grain will be around 300 million bushels, or considerably more than half of the crop of 562 million bushels produced last year.

The large accumulation of feed grains under price support this year has supported market prices. This support will be reversed whenever government stocks are reduced. Present price levels could probably be maintained if pork and egg production were not at such low levels.

Records Indicate Potential Value Of Beef Cattle

Good performance in beef animals is fortunately a highly inherited characteristic.

G. R. Carlisle, extension livestock specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, reports on studies showing that weaning weight, rate of gain and its related economy of feed use, and type are all inherited qualities.

For this reason it is possible to select herd bulls that will transmit good performance to their offspring, says Carlisle. Buying bulls on the basis of good records of performance will greatly improve your chances of getting animals that will perform well.

Two bulls from the same herd can show big differences in performance, Carlisle points out. Records on two bull calves sired by the same bull and handled in the same way clearly show the difference. Their owner is enrolled in the Illinois beef performance testing project.

Weaning weights and weaning type scores were 490 pounds and top choice on one bull and 530 pounds and low fancy on the other. The first bull, however, gained 3.56 pounds a day after weaning compared with 2.39 pounds a day for the other.

Their yearling type scores were the same as before. But the first bull had gained 130 more pounds than the other in the first 110 days after weaning. The more rapid gainers in beef cattle almost always make more efficient use of their feed, according to the livestock specialist.

The best way to prevent undulant fever is to eradicate brucellosis from the farm.

ADVERTISE IT PAYS

25 Years Of Service Recognized

Wilbur C. Williams of Chapin, chairman of the Morgan County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Program, is shown at left as he presents a 25 year recognition certificate to Wallace T. Hembrough, manager of the Jacksonville ASC office.

It appears at this date that Hembrough is the oldest continuous employee of the farm program that began under President Franklin D. Roosevelt back in 1933.

But, really, Hembrough has been working for the betterment of agriculture through federal assistance since 1911, when he was named the local leader of the federal wheat program under President Herbert Hoover.

Hembrough, now 61 years old, combines energy with quietness and friendliness.

An I.C. Man

He graduated from Illinois College in 1919, a varsity basketball player and captain of the track team. The next year he graduated from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture and married Miss Dorothy Black, and they moved to the 272-acre farm northeast of Ashbury church where they still live.

His children are Dr. Frederick Hembrough, Jacksonville veterinarian, and Miss Betty Lou, who is now vocational counselor for the Greater St. Louis board after four years at the same work at Kansas State University, Lawrence, Kans. His elder son, Wallace T. Jr., was shot down while he was piloting a U.S. ship over Germany two weeks before Hitler came in.

He is now national vice president of the National War Dads association and has been invited to be president several times. "But I know I have neither the time nor the money to do the job justice," he says. "I wish I could accept, but I decline to do a half-way job."

Not All Fun

Being the No. 1 man in the many varied aspects of the national agriculture program hasn't been fun all the time, "but it hasn't been too bad. In fact, it has been most rewarding," he says. "Some farmers, just a few years ago, were pretty mad at me because I had to show them the rules. Some of them who squawked the loudest are my best friends now."

Hembrough doesn't agree at all with Secretary of Agriculture Benson who says the farm program is out of step because less than one-seventh of the farmers comply with the program. "That is certainly not true in Morgan county," the smiling, white-haired office manager says.

"In this county over half of the farms that is — farms where people make a living off them — come in every year to join in the program. We can't take in account those small places of three acres or so where the owner makes a living somewhere else. "At the beginning we went in blind, trying to help the farmer get back on his feet. Now the most important phase of our work, I think, is the conservation program, where we encourage farmers, through token payments, to apply the limestone, phosphorus, potash he needs, to build the pond he needs, and the terraces he should have had long ago."

The Big Goof
The roughest time Hembrough has had was last winter.

At that time Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson pulled something that his best friends disliked.

He suggested that, to cut down on production, the government should pull entire farms out of production. The four states of Maine, Tennessee, Illinois and Nebraska, were selected as try-out spots, where the owners would offer a contract to keep farms out of production for five to ten year periods.

The response was overwhelming. The local office, Hembrough, the ACP committee, and the 14 office employees were swamped. Nearly 200 farm owners in Morgan county offered to quit producing unwanted grain. They were at the local office early before the opening hour, 8 a.m., and rallied around there up to midnight. Benson cancelled all bids. Nobody but pencil and paper manufacturers benefited.

Right now Hembrough is busy with the wheat referendum vote on June 20. He'll be on WLDS with Farm Adviser George A. Trull at 1 p.m. Monday to discuss it. He is also concerned with the election of the all-important community ASC committee which will come around or July 8.

Farmers To Attend Wheat Day Tuesday At Royal Oakes Farm

A full program has been planned for the annual "Wheat Day" at the Royal Oakes farm just north of Bluffs Tuesday, beginning at 1:30 p.m., announces Dale Hewitt, Scott county farm adviser.

The visitors will inspect 21 different wheat varieties, including five that are brand new to this area. Mr. Oakes will discuss the superior points and the weaknesses of each variety and a group of specialists from the University of Illinois will be on hand to answer questions.

The wheat is planted in one-tenth acre plots. The new ones are Todd, developed in Kentucky; LaPort from Indiana; Crochet from Texas; Racine from Wisconsin and Illinois 53-818, developed by the University of Illinois.

LaPort appears to be a superior soft winter wheat, Oakes says. Crochet, a hard wheat and a descendant of Wichita, also looks mighty good. It is more rust resistant than Wichita.

Specialists To Attend
Coming from Urbana for the day are W. G. Scott, crops specialist; O. T. Bennett, veteran small grains breeder; H. P. Petty, entomologist; J. W. Pendleton, winter oats breeder; R. O. Weibel, wheat breeder; C. M. Brown, oat breeder; and J. C. Hackleman, secretary of the Illinois Crop Improvement Association.

Four varieties of winter oats which failed to endure 10 below zero temperatures will be inspected. Four different winter barleys also had tough sailing in Scott county this year.

Mr. Oakes has tested different varieties of wheat annually since 1907 and since 1931 he has worked in conjunction with the University of Illinois. In 1907 he planted eight different varieties. All of them are gone now, with the sole exception of Turkey Red, which is a parent in most of the more successful hard winter wheat varieties developed since then.

The Best Ever
Thus far, this growing season has been the best ever, Mr. Oakes says.

"The only year comparable to this season that I can recall was 1900, the year I began farming. Everything went just right that year."

He feels that the wheat crop is the best he has ever seen. "In reporting to the USDA-IL Illinois Crop Reporting Service last week I gave wheat in this section a 98 rating, which was the highest rating I have ever submitted during the many years I have been a crop reporter."

Attendance at the annual fair varies considerably, depending much upon the weather and how much field work is pressing. Sometimes as many as 200 interested people, from 10-20 counties are present.

Use Score System
Station runs are selected on the basis of a total score system. The score is determined by totaling (1) weaning weight; (2) yearling weight; and (3) two times the fleece weight, and (4) allowing an extra 10 points for twins. From among the top-scoring rams, Jack then selects the flock rams.

Strawberry Patch Needs Attention After Harvest

By Chester C. Zych
Department of Horticulture,
University of Illinois

URBANA—The number of crops a strawberry bed will produce depends on the condition of the bed after the first picking season.

Such conditions as poor soil fertility, weeds or insects sometimes make a second crop inadvisable. However, it will usually pay to renovate a bed planted to a vigorous variety that has been well cared for the first season.

The best time to renew a strawberry bed is in early summer immediately after the crop is harvested. First, clip off the foliage with a sickle or scythe. Or, if the patch is large, use a mowing machine with the cutter bar set fairly high. If the mulch is heavy and has not rotted down, some may have to be removed.

After the leaves dry, rake them with the remaining mulch from the plant tops to the middles between rows. Sometimes the bed is then burned over. It is best to do the burning on a windy day, preferably after a rain, when the ground will be moist. If there is no wind and the plant crowns are dry, a slow fire will injure them. Burning helps to prevent many diseases and insects, but is not recommended if the ground is dry or the mulch and leaves are damp. If conditions make burning unwise, rake the leaves and mulch, remove them from the patch and then burn them.

Narrow Rows Best
After the bed has been cleaned up, the renovation process can be completed in one of several ways. In some cases it may be wise to narrow the rows to about 12 inches. Either remove a strip of plants on each side, or cut off half of each row (always on the same side).

If the original rows have spread to three feet or more, work out the centers, making two narrow rows from each wide one. Use a hand hoe, grape hoe, plow or similar tool, depending on the patch size. If the remaining rows are heavily matted, cut out some of the older plants.

Also thin out unproductive plants. Thinning gives the remaining plants a chance to produce new rows of vigorous, healthy plants. Early-formed runner plants may make the most productive fruiting plants the next season. Under favorable conditions most of the healthy older plants will also form new fruiting plants at the crowns.

Fertilizers Needed
Next, spread a cover of well-rotted manure on the patch. Be sure to work it in carefully around crops.

If good cultivation and weed and insect control are practiced after renovation, new plants will form that will usually produce a large crop the next year. During dry weather after renovation, irrigation may be necessary.

It is seldom advisable to fruit a bed for more than two years. But strawberries may again follow in a rotation of vegetables or farm sure to work it in carefully around crops.

Calculated Risk On Tax Cut

The administration decision not to cut taxes at this time, a choice well supported by congressional leaders, reflects two chief calculations as to the country's economic condition.

One is that the nation is close to the bottom of its business decline and soon will turn toward better times without the stimulus of a tax cut.

This judgment must underlie the decision, because otherwise the determination to employ neither a reduction in taxes nor a heavy public works program could be interpreted as a policy of tolerance for continually sagging business.

The second is that a substantial cut would evidently so enlarge the prospective federal deficit as to raise considerable threat of renewed inflation. Reinforcing this fear is the fact that despite the drop in the economy, living costs have gone on soaring to new highs.

In other words, President Eisenhower and those within his official family who support this decision against a cut have made a choice for what they hope will be a "natural" recovery. They are concerned that artificial stimuli may produce another disease worse than the current recession.

They take the risk that the natural adjustment they favor may be terribly painful for some millions of Americans, that it may come more slowly than they hope.

If that should be the history of the coming months, the political consequences to the administration and its party could be severe. But if Mr. Eisenhower and his supporting advisers have guessed right and an upturn does soon begin, they may be hailed for their economic wisdom and rewarded at the polls.

At this moment of decision, there should be no argument that a "no tax cut" verdict represents callous indifference to the plight of the unemployed or all the other millions affected by the recession.

Inflation can be just as damaging to people in the mass as unemployment. It is just as inhuman in its results.

Crucial questions of balance are involved here. Any leader trying to find the right course may prove wrong. But we should not pretend that the choice is easy. There are pitfalls on all sides.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Bachelor Father" is a happy survivor of the wreckage from one of the biggest reason turners in TV history. Seldom have there been as many casualties among TV shows. "Bachelor Father," which alternates with Jack Benny on CBS Sunday nights, is one of the few new shows to be renewed for next season.

The star, John Forsythe, offered this explanation: "I think we've been pretty lucky in drawing a fine line on a family show. We don't go as far in comedy as 'Love Lucy' and we're not as sentimental as 'Father Knows Best' or the 'Danny Thomas Show'."

"And I think we've got a good cast. Sammee Tong is a great character; he's not an actor, but he has a way of making any line seem funny. The girl, Noreen Corcoran, was a good choice because she's natural and not precocious. "As for myself, there's one quality I've seemed to retain through my career. People seem to be able to identify themselves with me. That's an asset for a TV show."

Forsythe, handsome veteran of stage ("Teahouse of the August Moon") and screen ("The Ambassador's Daughter"), keeps a close eye on production, down to and including the laugh track.

Many a comedy show has been ruined by boisterous laughter on the sound track when the humor seems mild to the home audience. Bachelor Father gets its laughter from packs of tourists who bus through the Republic lot daily. "As for myself, there's one quality I've seemed to retain through my career. People seem to be able to identify themselves with me. That's an asset for a TV show."

TO THE POINT

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Juvenile Court Judge Louis H. Jull has made the shortest speech on record.

After listening to a suggestion that children would refrain from such delinquency as stealing hub caps if they were allowed to shoot off firecrackers, Jull approached the rostrum thoughtfully and said: "No."

He sat down amid tremendous applause.

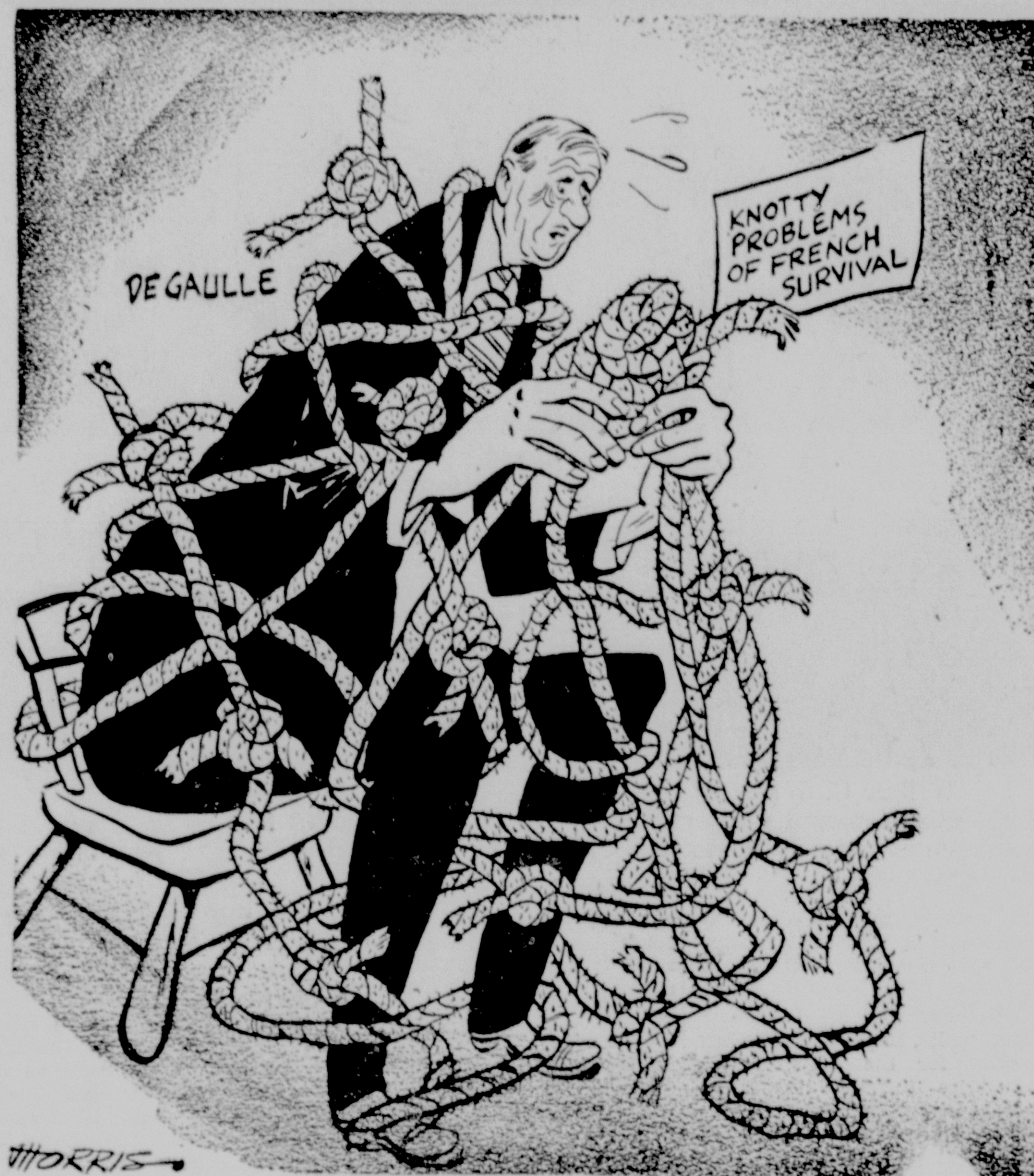

Matter of FACT

Before the War Between the States, Illinois was a stronghold of the Democratic party under the leadership of Stephen A. Douglas, the "Little Giant." He defeated Abraham Lincoln for the Senate after debates on the question of states' rights and slavery. In 1860, however, Lincoln defeated Douglas and became the first Republican president.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—If dancing kind of hazardous. One resident of the block set up a bar on the curb, which caused a passing motorist to slam on his brakes and comment:

"Can't beat this for service. Folks, make mine a double Martini."

This year the Feys and their neighbors in the block did it again, and the cops closed off the right street. German Embassy press attaché Johannes Haas-Haye, who was a guest, pronounced the affair an international social triumph when dancing finally ended at 3 a.m.

Neighbors and guests included Chinese, Indians, Egyptians, Germans, Italians and French diplomats.

Diplomatic immunity may prevent an embassy chauffeur from getting a traffic ticket, but it offers no protection from the hot temper of an outraged motorist. Other evening an embassy limousine was traveling down a busy Washington thoroughfare behind a new Chrysler convertible. Whenever the Chrysler stopped for a red light, the limousine rolled slowly forward and bumped it.

After this happened the third time, the Chrysler driver jumped out of his car, jerked open the door of the limousine, punched the chauffeur in the face, got back into his car and drove away.

When police arrived and started questioning witnesses, nobody could remember the angry man's license number.

Party-goers were treated to their first outdoor cooking of the season the other afternoon at the Afghan embassy. The festivities, which took place in the embassy garden, were in celebration of Afghanistan's independence day.

While waiters nudged through the crowds serving champagne, a cook dished out delicious shish-kebab which he prepared on a portable aluminum stove.

Guests were so enthusiastic about the outdoor cooking that they completely overlooked a large buffet table indoors which was loaded with ham, shrimp, lobster and roast beef. Finally waiters had to transfer all the food to an outside table near the stove so that it wouldn't go to waste.

Mike Balazs, head chef at the Sheraton Park Hotel, is one gourmet who doesn't like his own cooking. "It's just too fancy," he privately confesses. "I'd rather eat a Bologna sandwich any day."

That's exactly what his wife serves him each night when he gets home from work.

Housekeeping Rut Is Only As Deep as Wife Is Shallow

If you're a housewife who is in a rut, you probably excuse yourself by blaming your dull existence on one or two handicaps—lack of money or lack of time for yourself.

But actually, neither is sufficient excuse for a housewife's leading a dull and lonely life. Even though she has very little money to spend on herself, there are all kinds of things a housewife can do to broaden her interests.

She can teach herself from books taken out of the public library. She can develop her own talents and make new friends by taking on a community job.

She can study up on a hobby until she becomes expert at it. She can enroll in one of the many free or inexpensive courses open to the public in most communities.

She may even be able to find part-time employment if her children are in school.

As for lack of time, it's true a woman with a household to run and small children to look after has to be a good manager in order to find time for friends and outside activities. But if she is determined, she can make time for herself.

Women today do a lot for children they could do for themselves. Many of them set their standards of housekeeping so high they become slaves to their houses instead of mistresses of their homes.

Many of them say they would rather stay home for the rest of their lives than take a small child with them when they go out. But a well-behaved, well-mannered child can be taken almost anywhere.

Besides, what is wrong with a mother's demanding that she have a little time for herself every week—whether she gets it by hiring a sitter, taking over a neighbor's children one day a week in return for the neighbor's taking care of hers another day, or asking her husband to take over for her now and then?

No, it isn't lack of time or money that makes a woman a household drudge. It's lack of imagination and courage. With a little bit of both any woman can climb out of the rut—no matter how long she has been in it.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maybe we're being bawwashed. Nikita Khrushchev, full of tricks, is working on us overtime.

Time was in the not so olden days, when nations did business through formal notes and stiff, polite and frigid diplomatic visits. This had its usefulness: a nation which wanted to feel dignified or superior could keep on doing so.

It was pretty much against the rules to get a rock through the front window or a palsy-walsy shout across the back fence.

There's no doubt this country for a long time felt superior to the Soviet Union. Then Nikita Khrushchev bounced in, too round and fat for a stuffed shirt.

Pretty soon, with his speeches and statements broadcast to the world, he began to drum it into the world's consciousness that the Soviet Union was anyone's equal.

Just as a nudge, in case there was still doubt, the Soviets shot up their Sputniks.

The past few months are a pretty good example of how the Soviets threw the old-fashioned rule book out the window.

Khrushchev's running-mate, the then Premier Bulganin, last December dashed off a note to President Eisenhower, proposing a summit conference.

Then, without politely waiting for this country to reveal the contents, the Soviets made the letter public.

They made a summit conference look simple. It was a we're-all-members-of-the-same-club kind of note.

The Soviets not only made themselves look like jolly peace-lovers but got the idea across to the rest of the world, no matter what the effect here.

To make matters worse: before Eisenhower answered this first letter, Bulganin wrote him another. It's been that way ever since: letter after letter.

When Khrushchev managed to push Bulganin aside and took his place as premier, he borrowed his pen too and kept on writing to Eisenhower.

But the Soviet method towards this country can be stated simply: keep 'em off balance. Khrushchev mixes his piches.

At one time he writes or talks together; at another time, in a speech somewhere or at a cocktail party, he calls us warmongers.

He talks one time of peaceful coexistence and another of communism's taking over the world. All the letters and statements manage to get broadcast or reported.

Pretty soon, having hopped over the formal diplomatic barriers, the Soviets had forced Eisenhower to write letters to them. If he didn't, it would be just so much more propaganda gravy for the Soviets.

That parallel has undoubtedly given faith and inspiring hope in situations that have often resembled the trials and troubles of the original travelers to the Promised Land in the 40 years of wandering in the wilderness.

Apart from its teachings and religious organization, I doubt whether any such pioneer movement more closely paralleled the original march to the Promised Land than did that of Mormonism and the Mormons. Their terrible persecution, which began in Ohio, continued in Missouri and drove them from Nauvoo, Ill., in most disgraceful outburst of mob violence and intolerance.

I have often thought that the parallelism of strong, heroic Mormon leaders, fortitude under trial, conquest of the desert, and process amounting to genius in the building of what was to become the State of Utah had much to do with the accession of converts.

And this despite certain Mormon doctrines and practices which might have discouraged conversions.

My first of several visits to Utah and Salt Lake City was back shortly before the abolition of polygamy. I recall quite vividly the experiences of that Sunday.

I remember particularly a conversation with a Mormon woman. She was obviously a woman of fine character and of deep sincerity, a devoted and convinced Mormon. She had been the eighth wife of a former governor of Utah.

'Helping Hands' Are Friends

In Need for Live-Aloners

By MARIE DAJERR

Frank L. is a widower who lives alone in a suite in an Ohio public housing apartment built especially for older people.

The other day, Frank became ill with the flu. He was too weak to get himself something to eat. He couldn't even crawl to the telephone. It was 24 hours before a neighbor missed him and summoned help.

This experience prompted organization of the "Helping Hands," a committee composed of one representative of each of the apartment's 13 floors.

The "hands" aren't snoopers. They are motherly women who welcome newcomers, tactfully keep check on both old and new residents' welfare.

Each "hand" has a notebook listing her neighbors. In it is jotted down such important information as whether a person is a diabetic, the name of the doctor or clinic which has treated him, whether he has hospital insurance and the name and phone number of his nearest relative.

In a Michigan city, older persons living alone may subscribe to the "reassurance service" of a telephone answering service. You will need a call card, one day at stipulated hours. If no one answers, it calls a relative, a friend and a physician. Subscribers may even leave a key for the reassurance service to turn over to a police officer trained in first aid, should an emergency arise.

Maybe you don't live in a housing project with "helping hands." Maybe your town doesn't have a reassurance telephoning service.

But you can—and should—make your own arrangements for some kind of check that will pay off in peace of mind and safety. In an emergency, it could mean the difference between life and death.

Maybe you can telephone a friend at a certain hour each day. Maybe there is a nice young woman next door who will keep a neighborly eye on you. You could give her the same kind of information the "helping hands" carry in their notebooks.

It often is fun—and practical—for an older person to live alone. But it isn't so smart to be a recluse.

"I never let anyone know anything about my business," sounds very independent. But is it wise?

Think it over.

Q—When my daughter-in-law asks me to baby-sit, she insists on paying. This embarrasses me. She says it is only right, because she would have to pay a stranger.—L. O.

A—I'd say you're both lucky. She for having a mother-in-law who will help her out; you for having a daughter-in-law who doesn't take you for granted. If she wants to, let her pay you—and accept graciously.

Q—I have a little gift shop in my home. Am I covered by Social Security?—M. Z.

A—Yes, if you net at least $400 a year. Keep records of receipts and payments. Keep invoices and other documents. You will need a Social Security number and each year you must pay the Social Security self-employment tax when you file your federal tax return on Schedule C for self-employed persons. File the income tax return to pay the Social Security tax even if you don't earn enough to owe any income tax.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

Promised Lands

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D., and had been previously married singly.

She evidenced the amicable relationship between wives, but what I particularly remember was her praise of Mormon men. She emphasized that they were patriarchy, and she had in mind the great patriarchs of ancient Israel.

This is a part of the parallelism I have been stressing. The Promised Land, too, has had a symbolism less material in the movement for a better society—the Promised Land of tomorrow.

And it has its symbolism in the aspiration for individual spiritual progress, and the realization of common ends and goals: We're marching to Zion.

Beautiful, beautiful Zion: We're marching upward to Zion, The beautiful City of God.

WE INSTALL — WE SERVICE

For many years now, we have been installing AND SERVING furnaces, bathrooms, water systems and appliances. We handle only quality nationally advertised products people know and trust. This business has steadily grown. For instance, take furnaces... in no single year in the last 4 years have we sold fewer than 100 furnaces. And furnace sales so far this year are running substantially ahead of the same period last year.

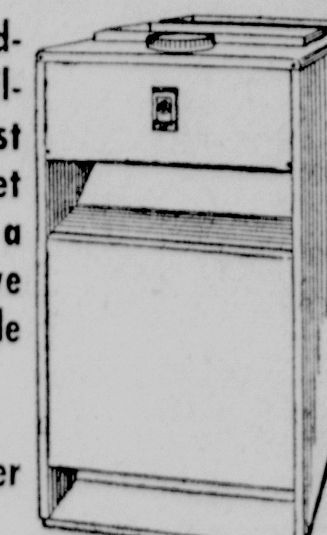

Our men frequently make service calls late at night, particularly on furnace troubles. They are definitely on call 24 hours a day.

We would welcome your business.

AMERICAN-Standard WINTER, SUMMER AND YEAR 'ROUND AIR CONDITIONERS

The American Standard Furnace, here illustrated is the finest furnace on the market today. Because of a quantity purchase we have them available for as low as

$169.00
Complete with blower and all controls.

AMERICAN STANDARD SUMMER AIR CONDITIONING MAY BE ADDED LATER

If you wish to install your own furnace and Air Conditioner we will engineer the job and furnish a material list at NO ADDITIONAL COST and furnish the sheet metal fittings and registers at the lowest prices in this area.

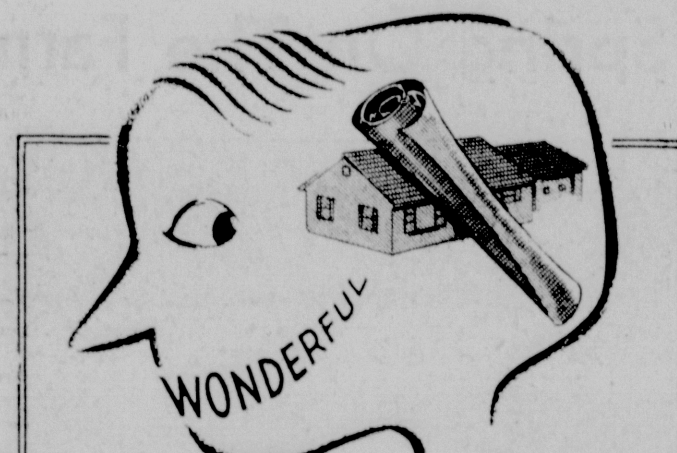

We also have the finest installation crews in this area. We install complete with all piping (for the average 2 bedroom house) for as low as $485.00.

HIGH VOLTAGE—Top of this gigantic bushing will be no place to cling to when it becomes part of the hottest full-scale experimental transmission system in existence. When in operation at Pittsfield, Mass., it will eventually carry power at a maximum of some 750,000 volts, more than any other electrical system in the world. That's enough juice to supply the needs of an area like Cleveland, Ohio, with a population of more than one million. It's a project of General Electric's power transmission department.

Jim's Big Surprise

By D. W. Hendrickson

Part I: Unwelcome News

"Here's a letter for you, Mom."

If Jim had known what was in that letter, he wouldn't have come into the kitchen to hand it to his mother with so much bounce.

"Oh, good," his mother said, slitting the envelope with a paring knife, "it's from Aunt Bet."

"Yeah?" Jim got a coke out of the refrigerator. "She home from the hospital now?"

"No, but she says she's up most of the day and expects to go home very soon."

"That's good," Jim took the cap off the bottle.

"Uncle Ted wants to take her on a little trip before she starts to take care of the house again."

"Sounds like a good idea," Jim raised the bottle to his lips as his mother went on reading.

"They wonder if Ted Jr. and his dog could visit us while—"

A choking noise interrupted her, and she turned to see Jim red in the face and coughing.

"Both hands up as high as you can reach," Mom illustrated her instructions by putting her own hands up, the letter in one hand and the envelope in the other.

Jim had heard that every time he choked for as long as he could remember, and now he was too old for such baby stuff, but since no one was around to please his mother by raising both hands in the air, he tried.

"Well, whatever made you choke like that, Jim?"

"Who Wouldn't Choke?"

"Who wouldn't choke with that?"

PENCIL FISH

PENCIL FISH
By Ray Broekel

Scientifically known as Poecilibrycon auratus, this fish originally comes from the Guianas and the Amazon River region of South America.

A number of other fishes, similar in appearance, are often called pencil fishes, but this is the original one.

It has a rather slim body, and usually has its nose end tilted upward. It is quite pretty in coloration.

Its general color is a golden brown. Several narrow brown stripes travel the length of the body and end fanned out in the tail. A faint gold line is just above them. The anal fin (bottom near the tail) has a bright red spot on it.

Although a hardy fish, it doesn't do too well in most aquariums. It generally hangs around the aquarium, giving it the appearance of a lazy-good-for-nothing.

When alarmed, however, it can move quite rapidly.

An egg-layer, the Pencil Fish doesn't meet with the best of success when spawned in an aquarium.

One way to tell it apart from other so-called pencil fishes is by the adipose fin, a small fin just in front of the tail fin, on the top side.

Let's Go Birding

SPRING BIRD CENSUS
By Emma Mae Leonhard

Taking a Bird Census is a popular activity with many bird watchers. Springfield traditionally carries on three censuses: the spring, the fall, and the Christmas census, the last one of which is reported nationally. This year the spring census fell on Sunday, May 11.

On the following Saturday, May 17, six bird watchers of Jacksonville, one Junior High student, one Senior High student, two teachers, and a college professor, his wife, and little daughter— took the first real spring bird census in the Jacksonville area. Three of them worked from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; two about two and one-half hours; and one about three hours.

They covered the areas around Lake Mauvaisterre, Lake Jacksonville, the Boy Scout and Girl Scout woods, the woods north of George Vasey's home, and the section bordering Mauvaisterre Creek at the foot of the Boddy Hill. At certain seasons of the year these are all very good birding places.

However, because there were no flats for shore birds to feed on and because the warblers did not migrate through this section in waves as they usually do in the spring, the census takers had to work hard to go over the hundred mark. They totaled 108 different species of birds.

Here's List

Perhaps you would like the list of birds that were either seen or heard on May 11 in or near Jacksonville. How many of them do you really know or have seen in your life-time? Here is the list: Pile-billed Grebe, Great Blue Heron, American Egret, Green Heron, Black-crowned Night Heron, Mallard, Gadwall, Blue-winged Teal, Scaup, Red-tailed Hawk, Sparrow Hawk, Bobwhite, Killdeer, Spotted Sandpiper, Solitary Sandpiper, Dove, Yellow-billed Cuckoo, Chimney Swift, Black-billed Cuckoo, Barred Owl, Horned Owl, Long-eared Owl and Coot.

Whip-poor-will, Nighthawk, Ruby-throated Hummingbird, Kingfisher, Flicker, Red-bellied Woodpecker, Red-headed Woodpecker, Downy Woodpecker, Kingbird, Great-crested Flycatcher, Phoebe, Yellow-bellied Flycatcher, Acadian Flycatcher, Alder Flycatcher, Least Flycatcher, Wood Pewee, Olive-sided Flycatcher, Horned Lark, Tree Swallow, Rough-winged Swallow, Barn Swallow, Martin, Blue Jay, Crow, Chickadee, Tufted Titmouse, White-breasted Nuthatch, House Wren, Carolina Wren, Mockingbird, Catbird, Brown Thrasher, Robin, Wood Thrush, Olive-backed Thrush, Gray-cheeked Thrush, Bluebird, Blue-gray Gnatcatcher, Cedar Waxwing.

Shrike, Starling, Bell's Vireo, Yellow-throated Vireo, Blue-headed Vireo, Red-eyed Vireo, Warbling Vireo, Prothonotary Warbler, Tennessee Warbler, Nashville Warbler, Yellow Warbler, Magnolia Warbler, Myrtle Warbler, Black-burnian Warbler, Bay-breasted Warbler, Black-poll Warbler, Oven-bird, Louisiana Waterthrush, Kentucky Warbler, Connecticut Warbler, Yellow-throat, Yellow-breasted Chat, Wilson's Warbler, Redstart, English Sparrow, European Tree Sparrow.

Meadowlark, Red-winged Blackbird, Orchard Oriole, Baltimore Oriole, Grackle, Cowbird, Scarlet Tanager, Cardinal, Rose-breasted Grosbeak, Indigo Bunting, Dickcissel, Pine Siskin, Goldfinch, Grasshopper Sparrow, Field Sparrow, White-throated Sparrow, Song Sparrow, and the Upland Plover.

The usual question is what was the best bird of the day. The answer to this question would depend upon the bird watcher and his list of birds. In general, we would probably agree that it was the Connecticut Warbler, which is comparatively rare.

It is also difficult to see, as it isn't very active and does most of its feeding in bushy tangles. It also has special haunts which the bird watcher must learn to find by definite and careful searching.

This time it was discovered and identified by its song. The most surprising event was perhaps the flushing up of the Whip-poor-will in the woods at the Girl Scout Camp.

About The Atom

By Joseph A. Smith

Part 4: Some Atom Elements

Through our past experiments we've proven that the world is made up of particles of electrical charges. These particles then combine to form matter.

The simplest combination is one proton and one electron or the Hydrogen Atom.

In the table of elements Hydrogen is given a number of "1". But not all atoms in an element are alike.

Let us consider the "heavy Hydrogen" which weighs twice as much as regular hydrogen and is called Deuterium. It contains one neutron in addition to the proton and electron normally present. While its number is still 1, it is said to have weight of 2.

The well known Helium atom is more complex since it contains two protons, two neutrons, and two electrons in each atom. It is said to have a number of 2 (two protons within it) and a weight of 4 (consisting of 2 protons and 2 neutrons for a total of 4 parts).

An Isotope
All Hydrogen atoms have the same number but may have a different weight (1, 2, or 3) depending on the number of neutrons. Each form or weight is called an "isotope". They therefore have the same number in the element list but very different atomic weights according to the total number of protons plus neutrons in each form.

Let's take one more example. Boron the fifth number. Here the first number indicates that it is the fifth element, the B is short for Boron, and the 11 indicates that its atomic weight of 11 is made up of 5 protons and 6 neutrons in each atom. These various forms or isotopes of the same element will often behave differently and atomics is based on this as we shall see.

Science Can Be Fun

By Joseph Smith

Simple Electrical Wheel

The simplest motor-like device you and I could make was once invented by a man named Barlow. To make it we look around the house for a large permanent magnet, a small amount of mercury, and a four by three and a quarter inch wooden base.

Next, we cut an eight pointed star out of aluminum. Hollow out a small two inch long by one quarter of an inch wide and one eighth inch deep hole in the wooden base for the mercury pool.

Place the large magnet around the pool, and mount the eight pointed star vertically so that it turns on its nail shaft, the points of the star will barely touch the mercury.

Now hook one side of a dry cell onto the nail shaft, and the other side to the mercury pool; your wheel will now turn by itself!

Just reverse the wires by putting the one that was on the shaft onto the mercury, and the wire that was on the mercury pool onto the shaft; you will soon see that the wheel will turn in the opposite direction.

Between the two poles of the large magnet a magnetic field is set up. Current flowing through the mercury and wheel exerts a pull on both this magnetic field and the wheel. As long as the current flows the wheel will turn.

A regular motor works on a similar idea. If you like doing things like this read "Things a Boy Can Do With Electricity" by Alfred Morgan, for more ideas.

You Can Make This

By Rip Barnsdall

Miniature Golf

If you have a backyard, large or small, you will be able to make your own miniature golf course which will bring you hours and hours of fun.

Materials needed — Tin cans, golf ball and golf club.

How To Do It

Tell mother to start saving tin cans when she opens up her canned goods. Wash them out good so that there are no vegetable or fruit particles or juices stuck in them.

Cut the bottoms of the cans out as well as the tops. This way, when you put your can into the ground, any water that collects in it will have a chance to drain out at the bottom.

You can use any number of cans you want to, although nine would probably be the best, since that is the number of holes that small golf courses have. Large golf courses have 18 holes. If your yard is a large one, you might like to make an 18-hole course.

Choose Good Spots

After you have gathered all the cans that you need, decide where you are going to place your golf holes. Pick spots where no one will be able to step in them, that is, right out in the open.

Put them right by the side of a building or by the base of a tree. Your mother or father will be glad to help you pick out the best spots for your holes.

When you have picked out all the spots, get a hand trowel or small shovel and dig out the spot. Put your can in and fill the dirt around the can so that the top will be level with the ground. Fill the bottom of the can about half full with dirt. This will make it much easier to reach in and get the golf ball out.

You probably have an old golf ball around your house, and perhaps even an old golf club. You'll need only one of each; that is, one club and one ball.

Decide which hole will be number one, number two, and so on. Then, try some practice rounds playing your own course.

What's Part?

After playing each hole a few times you should have a pretty good idea of how many strokes it will take you to put the ball in the hole. Let's suppose that it takes about five strokes (hits) to put the ball in hole number one.

You can then say that the par for the number one hole is five. In other words, that means that the average number of hits it takes to put the ball into number one hole will be five.

After you have finished making your golf course and have decided what the par for your course will be (the number of shots it should take to go around your golf course), you can have your friends over for a game of golf! Let them see if they can break par or play better than you can!

Jeannie Studies Creature World

By Melma Huckleby Ewert

The Tick

She continued, "His little head is fastened on his thorax like Spider's. But I can't tell where Mite's waist-line is. Lady Spider has a beautiful pulled-in waist, I guess. Mite's abdomen begins where his legs quit, Daddy."

Then Jeannie looked at Daddy. "I want to draw his portrait right now," she said.

"To hang in your Rogie's gallery!"

"And I'll put a sign in the barnyard, Reward offered to any creature that can rid the barnyard of Mr. Mite and all his family who are criminal number one. Signed: Mr. Duck, Mr. Bird, Mr. Turkey, Mr. Guinea-fowl."

"Add Calico's and Laddie-Dog's signatures," amended Daddy. "And don't forget that Tick is a scoundrel, too. We shall begin studying him tomorrow."

Tick Is The Villain

That evening, dinner had long been waiting, and Daddy hadn't as yet come so Mother-dear was very worried.

"I'll go see why, and bring you word, Mother-dear," said Jeannie. Jeannie bridled Calico, and jumping on his bare back rode like a flash toward the cattle run. Soon she saw Daddy coming and turned Calico about to ride along side.

"What has happened, Daddy? You look so sad."

"Twenty-five of my beef cattle are dead. Half of the northern herd are sick. We have been dipping the well calves and driving them to a new pasture."

Heaven't they been exposed as I was when I got the measles?"

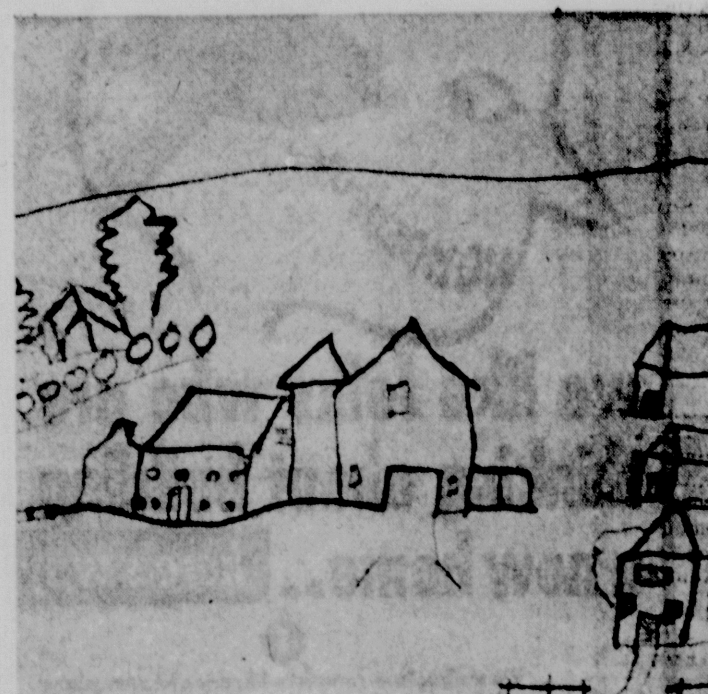

"No if they haven't been bitten."

"Do the sick cattle bite?"

"No. But the ticks do, and Cattle-fever is spread by ticks that leave a poisoned germ in the blood stream."

By now, Mother-dear, standing in the door-way saw Daddy and Jeannie coming way yonder: horses and riders like silhouettes, dark purple against an azure sky.

Sarah's Party

Sarah Annabell Crow of Murrayville, pictured above, was 6-years-old June first and had a birthday party May 29.

Her sister, Wanda S. Crow, reports that the guests included Susie Megginson, Linda Joe Basham, Linda Lee Rimby, Mary Jane Basham, Joyce Crow, Darlene Crow, Howard Crow, Jr., Judy Crow.

Mary E. Lonergan, Mike Lonergan, Sue Ellen Langdon, Ronnie Mines, Brenda Sue Whitlock, Natalie Mutch, Mrs. Howard Crow, Mrs. Curtis Crow, Mrs. Vincent Lonergan, Wanda L. Crow and Mrs. George E. Crow.

Wanda also says that games were played and refreshments served and that Sarah received many nice gifts.

Your Birthdays

To march in the Birthday parade just send your name, address, age and birthdate to the Jacksonville Junior Journal Courier two or more weeks before your birthday. Send a snapshot also if you have one (it can be called for as soon as it has appeared in the paper).

Above are Mark Nevins, who was one-year-old June 7, with his tell us about that later.

Arsenic Kills Ticks
Daddy told Mother-dear the whole story.

This thing had happened to neighbor ranchers, but never before to Daddy. For Dr. Daddy bitten already. With that poison was very scientific. He had all in their blood, nothing known ways made his cattle "swim the Rubicon" once every two weeks: ner and weaker and more fever-

a vat with medicine in it called ish "arsenic," instead of "chlorin" as is "I must find a way to stop it!" in the children's pool in Phoenix he raged.

This killed all little 'seed-ticks' (baby ticks). Ticks just can't stand arsenic.

Daddy explained that the new cattle he had bought had been fore to Daddy. For Dr. Daddy bitten already. With that poison was very scientific. He had all in their blood, nothing known ways made his cattle "swim the Rubicon" once every two weeks: ner and weaker and more fever-

a vat with medicine in it called ish "arsenic," instead of "chlorin" as is "I must find a way to stop it!" in the children's pool in Phoenix he raged.

Pittsfield Approves City Tax Ordinance

PITTSFIELD—The city council has approved (on first reading) an ordinance establishing a city sales tax of one-half of one percent, as provided by the statutes of the state of Illinois for cities and villages, and have adopted a resolution that all money derived from such a sales tax be placed in the water construction fund for the purpose of the purchase and construction of a water source for the city which would be permanent and adequate for many years to come, which is a project facing the city although at the present time there is no water shortage existing.

In years of drouth the city water supply has been threatened and several wells are now augmenting the supply at the city lake.

Mayor Troutner and members of the council have been diligent in the search for a favorable site for a lake, and one will be chosen after thorough investigation and consideration.

One of the most favorable sites of many under investigation suitable for a lake is on Blue Creek northeast of the city, and if it is so decided a huge lake about two miles long and covering more than two hundred acres would be constructed there.

If this site should prove to be the most feasible it would entail the purchase of some five to six hundred acres of land in the Sunny Hill neighborhood, and the city should then have an abundant water supply for years to come in a beautiful wooded area.

Russell Keys, chairman of the city council publicity committee, has issued this statement in answer to the many questions being asked about the city's plans for a new water supply: "To say definitely that a new source of supply would be a lake, or that it will be a pipe line, would be impossible at this time. It is the present assumption that it will be a lake, but later developments might alter that assumption."

Three years ago when the council considered a city sales tax it was vigorously opposed by the public and voted down. Mayor Troutner now feels that opposition is not great as citizens begin to realize the seriousness of providing a long range water supply.

BAPTIST HEADS CATHOLIC GROUP

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—The Roman Catholic Students' Scholarship Society at Providence College has been headed for the past year by a Baptist.

Larry W. Childers of Rock Hill, S. C., served as president this year of Theta chapter of Delta Epsilon Sigma, the honor society of Roman Catholic colleges.

Childers graduated with honors this week. He attended Providence College, operated by the Catholic Dominican Order, on a scholarship.

OUT OF THIS WORLD

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Pennsylvania hitchhiker with an "interplanetary" itinerary has arrived here on his way to Jupiter, in Florida, that is.

Devon Smith, 32-year-old auto assembly worker from Elwood, Pa., said he already has visited Star, Miss., Mercury, Tex., and Sun, La.

"I want to be the first person to visit all these stars without leaving earth," Smith said. He spent two weeks poring over the U. S. postal guide and reference books to map out his route.

His last scheduled stop—Earth, Tex.

WOLLENWEBER-GRUMMEL ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

GREENFIELD — Announcement is being made of the engagement of Miss Betty Lou Wollenweber, daughter of Leslie Wollenweber and the late Mrs. Wollenweber of Carrollton, to Stephen Grummel Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Grummel Sr., of Hettick. Miss Wollenweber is a graduate of the Carrollton high school, class of 1958.

Mr. Grummel is a graduate of Greenfield Community High School, class of 1956. He is employed at McDonnell Aircraft Corporation in St. Louis.

The wedding date has not been set.

HUNGRY COWS

GLASGOW, Ky. (AP)—Emmitt Storde finally found his two cows, missing for 10 days.

They had taken up shelter in an abandoned house.

Considering their diet, the cows were in good shape. Their diet? A bag of ammonium-nitrate fertilizer and the paper on the walls.

Don't forget how delectable taragon is in a lobster salad when you are preparing this favorite summer dish.

Accessories to Expand a Wardrobe

Designed to pretty up the basic sheath are these summer accessories. Cotton print cocoon jacket (left) is hiplength, has blouse back shaped to skim the waistline. It is done in a variety of prints. The wool-knit chemise jacket (center) is knit on long, slim lines to the hipbone, is neatly banded. It's done in a novelty knit that simulates a cable stitch. The example. Cut with narrow shoulder flares to a stop just at the waistline. Then there's the blouse jacket in thin tinted cotton that comes to an end just at the hipline. Lacy knit stoles in washable orlon and little sweaters knit from orlon and cotton provide protection against sudden summer breezes.

The tiny trapeze jacket is one that's buttoned in brass is another scene changer. This is in soft, washable orlon with just enough bulk. It's ideal for wear with a sheath all day long.

For late day, slip an orlon shrug into your suitcase. Some have roses knit in a spattered pattern over the surface and others have flowers printed on nylon veiling.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Living out of a suitcase while you're on vacation is fun only when you're well-organized. Carrying too much luggage is a burden; carrying too few things is a trial.

The happiest compromise lies in several really good basic dresses.

Even in summer one of these should be a wool unit sheath for a slick, unwrinkled, cool appearance. To these basic dresses, you can add the small accessories that pack flat, wash like nylons, take up next to no room in a suitcase and turn one dress into six.

PRO EMPLOYMENT AGENCY
MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The nation's only state-operated employment service for professional people has found positions for 5,567 persons since April, 1955. That was when the Wisconsin State Employment Service set up its professional division.

The division seeks to place in jobs all types of professional people except physicians.

Somebody Wants To Keep Plans Of Lincoln Anniversary Secret?

By ROBERT D. NOVAK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Somebody apparently doesn't want too much publicity about how a special commission is planning Abraham Lincoln's 160th birthday celebration next year.

The identity of that secretive somebody was a mystery today. Commission members did a double take Thursday when they received printed copies of the minutes of the last meeting of the Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission.

In the upper left hand corner, underlined, were these words: "Confidential information for members of the commission."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), commission chairman, was flabbergasted.

"I can't imagine what anybody would want to keep secret," he told a reporter. "I don't know who did it, but I shall inquire—and eliminate it."

Rep. F. Jay Nimitz (R-Ind.), vice chairman, also expressed surprise but would not condemn the attempt at secrecy.

"It depends on what's in the minutes," he said. Those minutes contained among other things discussion of offices for the commission staff, Lincoln commemorative coins and the appointment of honorary commission members.

But they also included a vote to increase the commission's proposed spending of tax money from $10,000 to $750,000 and a red-hot partisan political debate over staff appointments.

Those discussions were leaked to newsmen long before the minutes were distributed. Cooper later confirmed the facts at a news conference.

Cooper conceded the commission has no authority from Congress to classify information as confidential "and we don't want any."

But an attempt to fix the responsibility wound up in a typical bit of Washington buck passing. Cooper said the Library of Congress prepares the minutes. The library said it was done by the

France And Her Colonies Since World War II

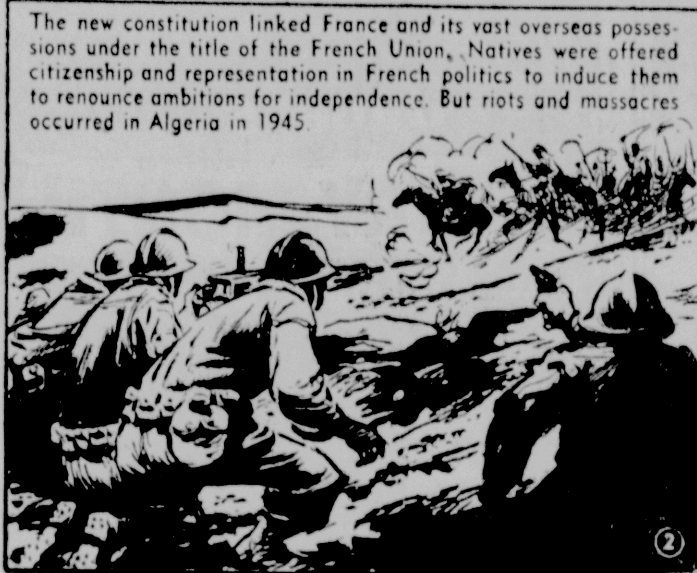

Paris, on Aug. 25, 1944, rejoiced at her liberation.

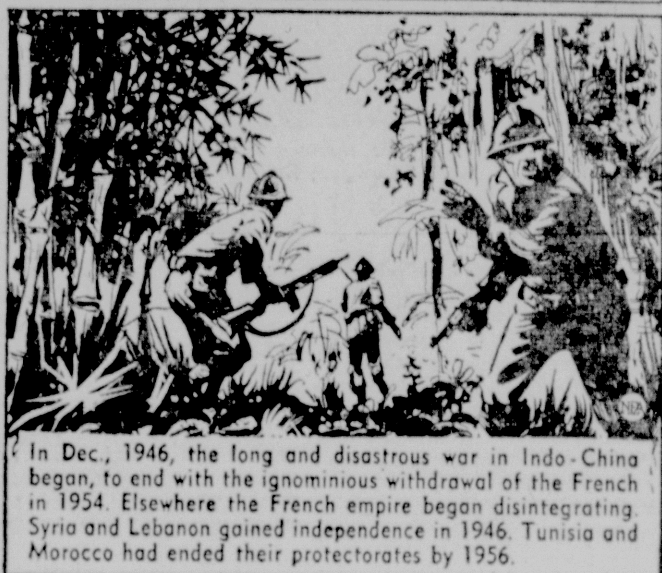

In first free election, held Oct. 21, 1945, the French voted to end the Third Republic. Later, in Jan., 1946, De Gaulle resigned, rather than head an ineffectual government.

On Oct. 13, 1946 a referendum adopted the constitution of the Fourth Republic, with 20% of the voters staying away from the polls. There was to follow a procession of premiers and coalition cabinets.

The new constitution linked France and its vast overseas possessions under the title of the French Union. Natives were offered citizenship and representation in French politics to induce them to renounce ambitions for independence. But riots and massacres occurred in Algeria in 1945.

In Dec., 1946, the long and disastrous war in Indo-China began, to end with the ignominious withdrawal of the French in 1954. Elsewhere the French empire began disintegrating. Syria and Lebanon gained independence in 1946. Tunisia and Morocco had ended their protectorates by 1956.

Walking Blood Bank Closes Work This Season

VIRGINIA—A total of 123 people had their blood typed Tuesday at the Walking Blood Bank center in Philadelphia. This is being sponsored throughout the county by the Cass County Health Improvement Association in cooperation with Schmitt Memorial Hospital in Beardstown, many civic groups, and the newspapers. Over 1900 people have been typed.

Master files with the record of each person typed, are being kept in Schmitt Memorial Hospital, and in the office of the Cass County Health Improvement Association, located in the Farm Bureau building at Virginia. Anyone needing blood may check those lists for the type needed for volunteer donors.

The center in Philadelphia was sponsored by the Philadelphia Home Bureau unit, with Mrs. John Jurgens, chairman. The women supplied cookies and coffee to all who came to the center and lollipops to the children. In the evening, they served a delicious meal to all volunteer helpers and the technicians from Schmitt Memorial Hospital.

Last week, 108 people had their blood typed in the Edgewood community, south of Beardstown. The Philadelphia group closes the program for the summer months. In the fall it will be resumed again and go to areas in the county not reached this spring.

ROODHOUSE—Dr. Clarence McClelland of Jacksonville, spoke before the Rotary group Wednesday night following the regular dinner session. Dr. McClelland, introduced by Charles C. Barlow, spoke on the subject of "American Spirit."

Visiting Jacksonville Rotarians were Art Cody and Tom Cornish, Bob Whalen, Sikeston, Mo., was also a guest.

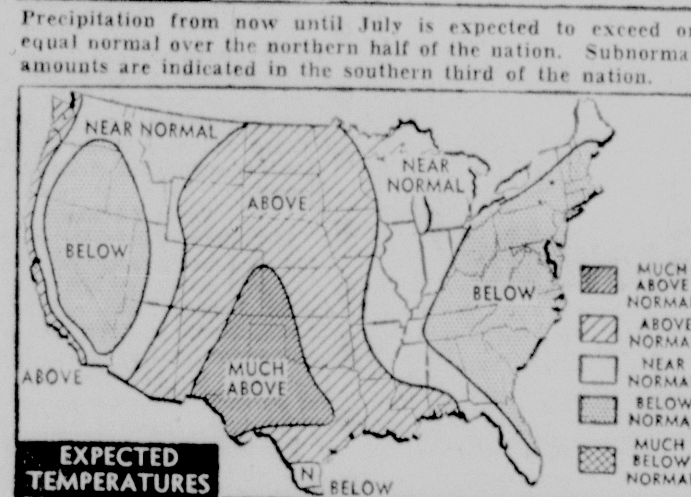

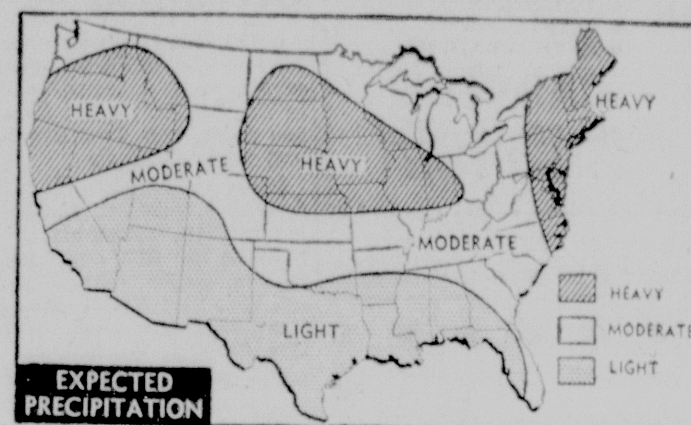

With three of the members attending Rotary International in Texas, the club boasted 100% attendance with a perfect record since last Dec. 1.

The dinner was served by the Della Philaetha class of the Baptist Church.

Final Meeting
The closing supper meeting of the Della Philaetha class will be held on the evening of June 12 with the following serving as hostesses: Mrs. Herbert Brant, Mrs. Rowe Lee, Mrs. Buell Cuddy, and Mrs. Noel Fraley. Devotions will be in charge of Mrs. Charles C. Barlow.

WEATHER AHEAD

The weather maps below give you the U.S. Weather Bureau's long-range forecast from now until July. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an ESTIMATE of average temperatures and precipitation for the period.

Precipitation from now until July is expected to exceed or equal normal over the northern half of the nation. Subnormal amounts are indicated in the southern third of the nation.

Temperatures from now until July are expected to average below seasonal normals over the eastern quarter of the nation and in the Plateau States. Above normal averages are expected in the central portion from the Rockies to the Mississippi and also along the West Coast. Elsewhere near normal temperatures are in prospect.

Jersey County Employs New Home Adviser

JERSEYVILLE—Miss Shirley Dannenmueller of Benton, Mo., has been employed by the Jersey County Home Bureau as Home Adviser and will move to Jerseyville about June 15.

Miss Marjorie Leach, former Jersey county home adviser, who has been studying at the University of Illinois under an assistantship in home economics, has also been hired for six weeks as home adviser here.

Miss Dannenmueller will work with Miss Leach from June 16 to June 26. At the end of that time she will be full time home adviser in Jersey county.

The new home adviser was graduated May 26 from Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau, with a bachelor of science degree in vocational home economics.

She has had extensive experience in extension work in Missouri. She was a 4-H club member for nine years, a junior leader, clothing leader, and part time secretary in the Scott county extension office located in her home town of Benton.

New Officers
The Willing Workers class of the Methodist Sunday school met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Searies at which time officers for the year were installed.

Mrs. Earl Dickey installed the following: Miss Dorothy Waddie, president; Mrs. Carlene Vanau-doll, vice president; Mrs. Charles Masbourn, secretary and Mrs. Leslie Langdon, treasurer.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

50 Enrolled In Bible School At Greenfield

GREENFIELD — Fifty children have enrolled in the vacation Bible school, which is being conducted in the Baptist church annex for two weeks. Mrs. Carl Nell is general superintendent.

There are four age groups, kindergarten, primary, juniors, and junior high. Assistants to Mrs. Nell are the Rev. and Mrs. William G. Webber, Mrs. Lynn Kinser, Mrs. Paul Kinser, Mrs. Rosemary Reed, Mrs. Ann Greer, and Mrs. Kenneth Woodkirk.

Mrs. Nell accompanied the junior high group to Valentine park Wednesday morning, where they had breakfast, following a devotional service.

Children of all departments will present a program Friday night, June 13, at the close of the VBS. There will also be an exhibit of work accomplished during the two weeks.

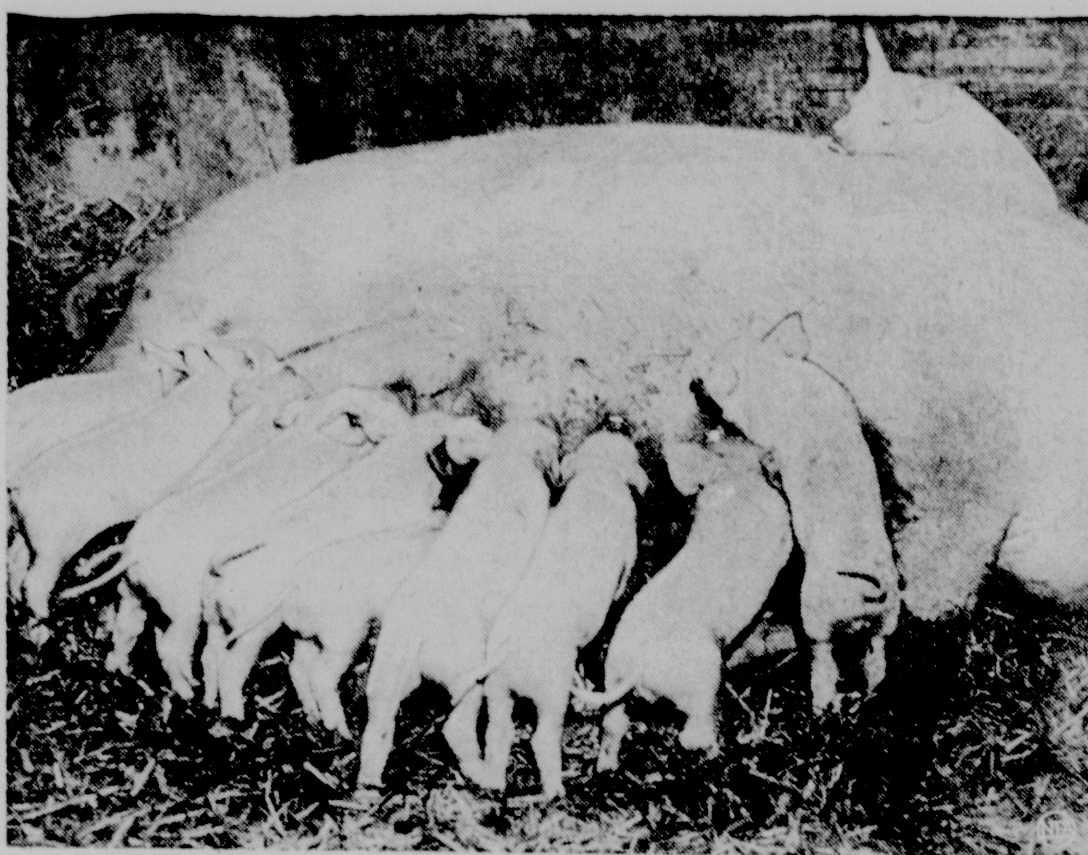

Visits Children

Mrs. John Vandaveer is spending two weeks with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Lanham and children, in Tulsa, Texas. Mrs. Vandaveer accompanied another son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Cain of Pawnee, who were en route to Tombstone, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Linder and children and Miss Anna M. Bott of East St. Louis, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bott, Alton, were guests Sunday of Mrs. O. J. Bott and Kenyon.

Mary Struble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Struble of Chestfield, is spending this week with her grandmother, Mrs. L. C. Tindick.

Mrs. Melvin Sullivan and daughter, Miss Karen Sue, of LATE FOR SUPPER—"Tiny," peeking wistfully over mama's shoulder, didn't get there fastest for the mostest. The runt of a piglet litter at Cowpen, England, Tiny is bottled by the farmer.

Roxana: Mrs. Sullivan's sister, Mrs. William Du Hart, of Chicago; Stuart Gilleland, of St. Louis, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Berglund and son, Gary, of Washington, Ill., have returned home after spending the weekend in the home of Mrs. Berglund's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Story, Mrs. Sullivan is the former Maxine Gilleland, and Mrs. Du Hart is the former Geraldine Gilleland, former Greenfield residents.

Visitors over the weekend at the home of Mrs. Floyd Crist and Miss Helen Crist were Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Owings, of Canton, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crist and grandchildren, of Pawnee; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Crist, of St. Louis; C. M. Crist and Miss Paulette Crist, of Alton, and Mr. and Mrs. Dee Tharp.

ORDINANCE NO. 266
AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR STREET OPENING PERMITS AND CHARGES THEREFOR.
WHEREAS, it is advisable and necessary for the protection of the streets, alleys and public ways in the Village of South Jacksonville, that all openings into said streets, alleys and public ways be controlled and accomplished under the supervision of Village Officials and that reasonable charges made for the issuance of said permits in regard thereto.
NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED, by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of South Jacksonville, as follows:
SECTION 1: All persons, firms or corporations desiring to make openings in any street, alley or public way or other public place within the corporate limits of the Village of South Jacksonville shall first obtain a permit from the Village Clerk.
SECTION 2: The Village Clerk is authorized and directed to issue the following permits defined as follows, to-wit: Class A permit to any firm, person or corporation who by the issuance of said permit agrees to fill the street opening and replace the surface thereof and agree to refill or replace the surface of said street opening in the event of any defect appearing therein for a period of one year after date of issuance of permit; Class B permit for all other type street openings, the permittee to fill the opening, and the Village to have the responsibility for the repair, replacement and maintenance of the surface of the street.
SECTION 3: The Village Clerk, prior to the issuance of either type of the aforesaid permits shall receive from the person, firm or corporation requesting the same, the following fee whichever is applicable: Class A—$1.00; Class B: (a) For any openings on the traveled portion of any street, alley or public way the sum of $20.00. (b) For openings not to exceed 3 feet by 5 feet in the ditch line of any street the sum of $10.00. (c) For openings running parallel to the street, alley or public way in the ditch line, or on the back slope, $10.00 plus 10c per running foot for each foot over 5 feet.
SECTION 4: Each applicant for a Class A or Class B permit prior to the issuance of the same shall present satisfactory evidence to the Village Clerk that said applicant, his agents or employees are fully protected by insurance or bond covering liability, property damage and workmen's compensation claims arising out of the work done by issuance of such permit.
SECTION 5: Each applicant for Class A or Class B permit shall agree to furnish all labor and materials to make the opening for which the street opening permit is granted, and further to furnish all labor and materials to fill said opening except in the case of Class B permits, the permittee shall not be required to furnish the surface material for fill to be of quality approved by the Village Board and the opening of the street and the filling up of the opening to be made under the supervision of Village Officials. Applicants for Class A permits to use granulated fill to fill street openings and to tamp the material in place; Class B permittees to use such material as to be approved by the Village Officials and to either tamp or jet all materials for the fill of said opening. Class A permittees to replace the street surface and to leave the same in as good a condition as it existed prior to the granting of said permit, and by the receipt of said permit Class A permittees agree to be responsible for the replacement of any surface materials or to correct any defects caused by said street opening for a period from one year after date of issuance of permit.
SECTION 6: Any ordinance in conflict herewith, to the extent of said conflict be and hereby is repealed, including but not by limitation thereof, the repeal of Ordinance No. 236 of said Village.
SECTION 7: Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this Ordinance to be subject to a fine of not less than $10.00 and not more than $100.00. A violation shall be considered to have occurred for each and every street opening done in violation of the terms of this ordinance.

XXIX

I PHONED Juana from a pay phone down in the lobby. "How are you, honey?" I said when she answered. "I missed you last night," she said. "I missed you, too, honey, but it couldn't be helped. I'll see you tonight, but I'll be a little late. I have to do something first. I'll probably reach your place about 10." "Why so late?" she asked sulkily. "Something I have to do," I said. "But don't worry. When I leave here, I'll have a nice little gun on me and I can take care of myself." "I know you can," she said. "I'll tell you all about it when I see you tonight. But this is big. I'll probably make or break the case, one way or the other. And somebody just might be listening. See you tonight." I hung up and went back upstairs. Luis arrived about an hour later. He did have a photograph of Perro's bank sheet. I took it and taped it in under a dresser drawer. He also had the key to the shack north of the city. He gave it to me and also described exactly where it was and how to find it. His mother's aunt would be home the following morning and would be happy to sell me something which I already had. And he had the Pentothal and the hypodermic. "The drugstore says," he said, "that you must not give all of this to a man at once. It will kill him." "I know," I said. I put it in with my shirts, tucking it down inside of one shirt. "You did well, Luis. I trust that you made a reasonable profit for yourself on each one of the deals." He sighed, "It is to be expected that I will be the wealthiest man in the prison." "Nonsense," I said. "They'll never put you in prison, Luis. If they did, you'd probably steal it stone by stone." Then I gave Luis the rest of the day off. I put my gun and holster away in the drawer and went downstairs. Out on the street, I looked for a taxi. "Senior March," a voice said. "I always careful," I answered. "Good night—El Nariz." I turned to hail a taxi. I had him take me to the cafe. The bartender greeted me like an old friend and waved me on to the back. She was there in the same booth. She gave me a wan smile. "Did you see my brother?" "I saw him," I said. "He doesn't want to escape. He expects them to let him out shortly after I leave." I LEANED back in the seat and put my arm around her. She glanced at me out of the corners of her eyes. I pulled her to me. For just a minute her lips answered mine, then she pushed herself away. Her fingers left a stinging trail across my cheek. "Senior March," she said, "all Mexican girls are not Juana Ramos." "I got the point the first time you hit me," I said drily. "By the way, you were right about your friend Juana." "What do you mean?" "She works for Carnicero." "How do you know?" "I set a little trap for her today," I said. "And Carnicero showed up. That may not prove it for your people, but it proves it to me." I dragged dinner out as long as I could, but finally it was close to 10 o'clock and I knew I'd better get on the move. We were barely out of the restaurant when our way was barred. I looked up. It was Carnicero. (To Be Continued) when you are finished." He stared at me for a long minute, while I hoped it would work. I hadn't counted on him wanting to search the room again.

"I do not need your key," he said arrogantly. "But I will search it some time when you are less prepared for it than you obviously are now. At the moment, my orders are not to do anything to you unless I catch you in an illegal act. But this will not last. Soon it will change. When it does"—he grinned without humor.
